Rustenburg's Caitlin unmatched on African continent

Rustenburg's Caitlin Thompson is set for a great future in professional cycling and at the tender age of 17 already a regular in the world's foremost cycling arenas. Caitlin made Rustenburg and the country proud when she took top honours at the African Continental Cycling Championships in Sharm El Sheikh in Egypt from 22 to 27 March and literally swept the floor with the competition to arrive home with no less than two gold medals. Caitlin is now the undisputed best junior female cyclist on the African continent. See story on page 19 of this edition. (Photo: Waldie Volschenk).

Aarto kan jou steeds punte of geld kos

RUSTENBURG HERALD - KAAPSTAD - Terwyl die Hooggeregshof in Januarie vanjaar bevind het dat die gehate Aarto Verkeersboetestelsel ongrondwetlik is, sal Suid-Afrikaanse motoriste teleurgesteld wees om te verneem dat hulle oplaas nog nie van Aarto en sy implikasies ontslae is nie.

Dit kan eers die geval wees nadat en indien die Grondwetlike Hof ook sou bevind dat die Aarto-stelsel inderdaad ongrondwetlik is.

Ons wonder egter of Suid-Afrikaners wat teen hierdie tyd al taamlik vertrou met die Aarto-stelsel is, besef dat die sogenaamde "demerit stelsel" hulle ongeag die hoeveelheid strafpunte ook 'n klomp geld kan kos.

Ekstra kostes gaan onvermydelik motoriste se voorland wees as jy probeer om vas te stel hoeveel strafpunte reeds teen jou naam/rybewys uitgereik is deur die sogenaamde Aarto 28-vorm te voltooi. Laasgenoemde sal jou 'n ekstra R60 kos. Hierdie en ander inligting rondom die Aarto-strafpuntstelsel is beskikbaar onder Skedule 2 van die Aarto-inligtingstelsel.

Ander onvoorsiene uitgawes is amptelike dokumente of kennisgewings wat per pos of per hand aan jou afgelewer moet word. Aflewering per pos sal jou ook R60 ekstra kos terwyl 'n dokument wat aan jou bedien word terwyl jy byvoorbeeld in aanhouding of in die tronk is, sal jou tot R100 kos.

Uitspraak deur die Grondwetlike Hof oor die grondwetlikheid van die Aarto-stelsel word later vanjaar ver wag.

Robbery foiled in Rustenburg East, suspect shot dead

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - The police in Rustenburg are investigating a case of attempted business robbery after five suspects attempted to rob a well known fast food shop in Rustenburg East on Monday evening (4 April).

A shootout ensued and one suspect was fatally wounded and died at the scene after he received a gunshot wound to his upper body.

The other suspects fled the scene in a white Vito. Preliminary investigations revealed that they fled the scene empty handed.

The police are urging anyone that might have information that can lead to the arrest of the suspects to contact Detective Sergeant Keorapetse Ramokgadi on 082 772 8941 or Warrant Officer Karel Khumalo on 082 773 0590.

Do you know where this man is?

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - The police in Phokeng request assistance in locating 38-year-old Magigwane Hebert Khoza.

He was last seen by his neighbour, Jeffrey Mashele on 9 March according to information received. He was last seen wearing a short trouser with a maroon golf t-shirt and black and red adidas tekkies.

No more lockdown!

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - "For the past 750 days our country has been in a state of disaster.

These steps were necessary, they were effective in slowing down the spread of Covid-19."

This is how President Cyril Ramaphosa started his speech Monday night (4 April).

The President added that a definite downward trend in the severity of Covid-19 infections is now evident.

He then announced that the official state of Disaster will come to an end at midnight tonight - with the exception of a few transitional measures that will remain for the next 30 days.

These include:

- * Indoor wearing of masks remain
- * Provisions regarding international travellers remain
- * Special Disaster grant will remain in place
- * Venues may accommodate 50% of capacity - as long as attendees have proof of vaccination, or a negative Covid-19 test not older than 72 hours.

The President then announced that all other regulations in regard of Level 1 will lapse at midnight tonight.

"Fellow South Africans, the end of the state of Disaster is sign of what our country has achieved and endured. It should give all of us the confidence to return to the lives we lived before the pandemic - but taking responsibility for our own safety, and those around us. Vaccination is the only safeguard we have against future serious waves of infections, and a return of a state of Disaster. We need to remain cautious and vigilant. We are hopeful that the worse is behind us and that only better days are ahead," the President concluded.

New regulations for employers

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - The publication of new regulations to contain the spread of Covid-19 – to replace the emergency regulations enacted under the state of disaster, has many people hot under the collar.

There are accusations that the politicians are aiming to entrench unnecessary regulations. A new Code of Practice for employers was issued a few weeks ago and is designed to enforce measures to be taken in the workplace to contain Covid-19 infections after the lifting of the National State of Disaster. The latter was announced by President Cyril Ramaphosa on Monday night.

However, it seems that existing legislation covers a lot of the “new measures” that are under scrutiny, as well as a few sticky situations that are bound to crop up. These new regulations reiterated employers’ obligations to their employees and all persons who may be affected by their activities, including clients and customers, leaving some employers grappling with what measures will be necessary and/or required of them in future.

For one, an employer must develop or amend its existing plan to include (among other things) any measures to be implemented to vaccinate its employees and (taking into account the intervals between vaccinations) the dates by which the employees must be fully vaccinated.

The risk assessment and the plan must be discussed with any representative trade union and the health and safety committee or representative.

Both the risk assessment and plan must be available for inspection by the trade union, committee and an inspector.

Some of the new obligations:

Legal experts highlight several of the obligations required under the new code of practice:

- Employees are required to comply with the employer’s plan;
- The employer must provide information on its plans and the plan must be available to all employees, unions representatives and labour inspectors;

- The code includes provisions to report employees’ vaccination status and the employer will be allowed to ask for a vaccination certificate;
- Employers can refuse entry to the place of work and demand a Covid-19 test when employees show symptoms;
- No deduction from an employee’s remuneration will be allowed to cover the cost of implementing necessary measures;
- and Infected employees must isolate or quarantine and time off work will be regarded as sick leave.

Two of the obligations in the CoP are bound to be potentially problematic. If an employee refuses, an employer must counsel the employee and take steps to reasonably accommodate the employee in a role that does not require vaccination.

However, if an employee presents a medical certificate referring to contra-indications and the employer accepts the certificate, or obtains a second evaluation that confirms the medical certificate, that employee must be accommodated in a position that does not require vaccination, according to a legal expert.

Once notified of this refusal, the employer must endeavour to resolve the issue. If the issue cannot be resolved internally, an inspector must be notified.

Any disputes about this will be dealt with by the Commission for Conciliation, Mediation and Arbitration (CCMA).

Invest to end TB and save lives

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Job Shimankana Tabane Hospital commemorated World Tuberculosis Day on Thursday (24 March), with this year's theme as "invest to end TB, save lives".

Tuberculosis (TB) is an infectious bacterial disease which is characterised by the growth of nodules (tubercles) in the tissues, especially the lungs. It is caused by a bacterium called Mycobacterium tuberculosis and is spread when a person with active TB disease in their lungs coughs or sneezes and someone else inhales the expelled droplets, which contain TB bacteria.

According to Sr Mathapelo Mokwanyane TB Coordinator, signs and symptoms of TB include among others coughing, fever, night sweats and loss of weight. TB treatment is usually six months, depending on the type of TB that a person has been diagnosed with (Pulmonary TB treatment for 6 months, extreme drug resistant and multi drug resistant take up to 2 years of treatment). People at high risk for TB exposure and infection include; HIV infected people with a decreasing CD4 count, the elderly, children below five years, individuals who smoke, inject drugs or abuse alcohol and those with chronic illnesses such as Cancer and Diabetes.

"TB can be prevented by keeping windows open, washing hands regularly, covering the mouth and nose with a tissue when coughing or sneezing and avoiding spitting of saliva, rather use a tissue paper and then discard it in the bin", concluded Mokwanyane.

Tsholofelo Herrinton Phiri (26) from Ikageng, Rustenburg.

Tsholofelo visited Thebe Ya Tlhajwe Secondary School in Koffiekraal Village, where she talked to grade 12 learners about good life choices.

Aspiring model, filmmaker makes difference in community

RUSTENBURG HERALD- RUSTENBURG - Tsholofelo Herrinton Phiri (26) from Ikageng is an aspiring filmmaker and a pageant model and currently a finalist in the Miss Face of Lorna Foundation which will be held on 7 May in Joburg.

Her mission is to educate society that pageantry is not just about beauty its more about empowerment and being a leader. She does charity work by mostly donating pads because she grew up poor, that's why charity work is important to her. Last year she won an award for youth excellence which was hosted by the Women of Worth awards

Recently she visited Thebe Ya Tlhajwe Secondary School in Koffiekraal Village, where she did a motivational talk with the grade 12 about teenage pregnancy and alcohol abuse. These topics are dear to her because she sees we live in the times were teen pregnancy is normal, which is wrong because it leads to teens leaving schools.

"My other mission is to educate our society about mental health issues we are facing, but we choose to ignore them. When it comes to this topic we all know that men in our society are not given a platform to speak. They are told that a man is not supposed to cry which is the very same thing that's killing our nation. I want to be the voice of reason to teach people that men are also human beings. They should be given a voice to speak about their worries, maybe we will have a better generation," said Phiri.

Lisensies mag SA-ekonomie

Bykans 1.4 miljoen Suid-Afrikaanse motoriste wie se bestuurslisensies die afgelope nagenoeg vier tot ses maande verval het, het verlede Donderdag 'n sug van verligting geslaak nadat die minister van vervoer, Fikile Mbalula, aangekondig het dat die grasietydperk vir die hernuwing van bestuurslisensies wat weens die agterstand in die uitreiking van lisensiekaarte veroorsaak is, tot 15 April verleng is. Hoewel ons sê "n sug van verligting" onder Suid-Afrikaanse motoriste kan ons inderwaarheid sê "ditto" in die geval van die Suid-Afrikaanse Departement van Vervoer, lisensiekantere, vervoerinstansies en wie weet, polisiestasies regoor die land waar "ongelisensieerde bestuurders" ongetwyfeld op die oorlogspad sou wees indien hierdie aankondiging van Mbalula nie betyds gekom het nie. Outa het verlede week gewaarsku dat die minister nie in 'n oorlog met die Suid-Afrikaanse publiek oor die kwessie van verstreke bestuurslisensies betrokke moet raak nie. Soos baie mense waarskynlik teen hierdie tyd weet, is die agterstand in die uitreiking van bestuurslisensies veroorsaak toe die "masjien" wat Suid-Afrikaanse motoriste se lisensiekaarte druk, onverwags onklaar geraak het. Daar is boonop tot groot konsternasie uitgevind dat daar net een van hierdie masjiene in die land is en dat dit 'n duur en tydsame proses gaan wees om dit te laat herstel. Die gevolg van die oponthoud is dat derduisende motoriste se bestuurslisensies verval het voordat nuwe kaarte uitgereik kon word. As gevolg hiervan het talle lisensiekantere teen 'n aansienliker stadiger tempo as normaalweg begin om aansoeke om die hernuwing van lisensies te prosesseer omdat personeel van mening was dat daar nou "in elk geval 'n groot agterstand was" en dat dit "onsinnig" sou wees om teen die normale tempo voort te gaan. "Motoriste sou tog in elk geval vir hul nuwe lisensiekaarte moes wag" en dit was seker onvermydelik dat die minister op een of ander stadium sou ingryp. In Rustenburg het die klagtes selfs nog weier uitgekring. Ten spyte van ondernemings en beroepe deur die minister en ander rolspelers dat kantoorure en -dae by lisensiekantere verleng word ten einde meer motoriste die geleentheid te gee om aansoek te doen vir die heruitreiking van hul lisensies, is dit blykbaar nie wat in Rustenburg gebeur het nie. Daar word verneem dat die Rustenburgse Lisensiekantere geruime tyd reeds slegs 160 mense per dag toelaat om die perseel binne te gaan terwyl "laatkommers" weggevoer word aangesien die personeel nie meer aansoeke kan akkommodeer nie. Hierdie, indien dit waar is, is 'n gruwelike skending van die opdrag van die minister van vervoer en sy departement - daar word opreg gehoop dat die Rustenburgse Lisensiekantere ingevolge die opdrag van Mbalula alles in die stryd werp om Rustenburgse motoriste te help om hierdie onnodige agterstand so spoedig moontlik in te haal en die land se ekonomie wat inderdaad "bloei" as 'n saak van dringendheid aan die rol te kry noudat die ramptoeestand opgehef is.

Licensing issues may not slow SA economy

Approximately 1.4 million South African motorists whose drivers' licences have expired over the past 4 to 6 months, have sighed with relief when the Minister of Transport announced on Thursday that the grace period for applications towards the renewal of drivers' licences would be extended until 15 April. Though we say "sigh with relief" we are sure of "ditto" with regards to the South African Ministry of Transport, licensing offices country wide, transport institutions and yes, who knows, perhaps even police stations across the country where motorists would have been up in arms should the deadline not have been extended. Outa (Organisation Undoing Tax Abuse) has warned last week that the Minister of Transport should not start a war with South African motorists as a result of the licensing backlog. Most people probably realise that the backlog was caused by a brake down of the equipment used by the Transport Ministry to print drivers' licences cards. It would have been (and indeed was) a long and expensive process of having the machine repaired that has caused a serious backlog in the issuing of card type licences. The result was that the licences of hundreds of thousands of motorists have expired before they could be re-issued. In addition to this, numerous licensing offices around the country suddenly appeared to have slowed down considerably since it "should have been pointless to work at the same rate as before - a delay was to be expected in the issuing of licences anyway". It must have been inevitable that the Minister would intervene at some stage. In Rustenburg however, things have "deteriorated" even further. In spite of the calls by the Minister and his department that working hours at licensing offices would be extended and that services would be available even on Saturdays, this apparently was not what has happened in Rustenburg. It has been reported that the Rustenburg Licensing office allows no more than 160 people into the premises per day as this is the maximum number of applications that Rustenburg could accommodate. If this is true, it must be a serious violation of the Minister's call to licensing offices to do everything in their power to help more people in order to reduce the backlog and to speed up the South African economy which is indeed bleeding as a result of the Covid pandemic - especially now since the State of Disaster has been lifted.

Traffic lights on R24 a headache

The Editor

Sir, I remember reading an article in you publication not too long ago that a certain company of contractors were employed by the Rustenburg Municipality to maintain and repair broken or smashed traffic lights at strategic points throughout the city. I wish to request the municipality to let me have the contact numbers of these contractors since it seems that they are indeed slow to notice traffic lights that are out of order for days on end. I travel a certain route to the office every single day of the week and it a mystery to see at least one of these traffic lights on the very busy R24 to be out of order almost every other day. How is it possible that the Rustenburg Municipality and/or its contractors cannot keep up with the repair of traffic lights at crucial crossings and especially during early morning peak hours? I am furthermore hesitant as to elaborating on the rude driving habits of Rustenburg motorists and as outlined before repeatedly - no traffic officer on point duty at all? This is how the World Class City's "managers" are failing the city and its people! Shame On You

Waar is my seun?

Geagte redakteur

Ek wend my vandag tot jul brieweblad in nóg 'n poging om inligting oor my kind te probeer bekom. My seun, Ruan Forbes, is agt jaar gelede hier uit Namibië af na sy pa in Suid-Afrika toe. Ek het nooit weer iets van Ruan gehoor nie; hy het eenvoudig net verdwyn. Niemand in die familie weet waar hy is nie. Onlangs het ek inligting ontvang dat hy hom miskien in Rustenburg mag bevind, maar ek weet regtig nie waar om te begin soek nie. Ruan - sy volle naam is Ruan Eugene Forbes - word op 30 September 25-jaar oud. Laas wat ek hom gesien het, was sy hare kort en blond. Ek gee regtig nie om watse nuus ek van hom kry nie - goed óf sleg. As ons net klaarheid kan kry, sal dit vir ons so baie beteken. Enige persoon met inligting kan my skakel op +264 811 402 324 (Namibiese skakelkode). Sanet du Toit, Walvisbaai, per e-pos Dié foto van Ruan Forbes is sowat agt jaar gelede geneem. Sy ma sal baie graag wil weet waar haar seun hom bevind.

Caitlin a continental cycling champion

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - The African Continental Cycling Championships took place in Sharm El Sheikh, Egypt from 22 March to 27 March 2022.

While the event sadly flew under the radar here in South African circles, it was high on the priority list of many other African nations. Most notable was Eritrea who had clearly arrived with their sights set on a clean sweep of the gold medals on offer. They presented strong teams across each of the categories and their teams were unified in their objective. Our very own Rustenburg Cycling Club member Caitlin Thompson (of Team Customized Cycling), representing South Africa, took on the Junior Female Individual Time Trial on Thursday morning. The conditions were far from ideal with extremely strong and persistent cross winds gusting at over 65 km/h. This resulted in some last-minute changes to her Time Trial bike setup, including the gamble of retaining the solid carbon disc rear wheel. She however executed yet another flawless time trial claiming the gold by a huge margin of 1 minute 46 seconds over 2nd place. The win placed her directly in the crosshairs of the other African teams for the road race which was to take place 2 days later. The road race was also plagued by strong winds. Being an out and back flat course, there was a tailwind on the out leg and a headwind on the return leg. This complicated Caitlin's primary race plan of a long-haul breakaway, which she ultimately had to discard in these severe conditions. The Eritrean and Moroccan teams got on the attacks early with the Eritreans trying to disrupt and fracture the group, until the last 10 kilometers of the race. By this time all attacks had been nullified and there was no option of anyone getting away in the stiff headwind. A sprint finish had now become a certainty. After monitoring the sprinting capacity of the Eritreans during the race, Caitlin opted to start the sprint earlier than expected, backing herself to sustain the sprint for longer than her competition could match. She also made good use of the slight crosswind as the road turned just before the finish line to close out any slipstream benefit to the trailing cyclists. By the finish line she had pulled out around 2 bike lengths on 2nd place to claim the gold medal. With this second gold medal in her possession, it meant a clean sweep of the African Continental Junior Female titles. Caitlin claimed 2 of South Africa's 3 Gold medals at the event, officially earning her the title of the fastest Junior Female Road Cyclist on the African Continent. Team South Africa came home with 7 medals including 3 golds, 2 silvers and 2 bronze. Caitlin's African "outing" and victory was a wonderful "gift" when she celebrated her 18th birthday only two days after the event - congratulations Caitlin!

Bulls light up Loftus

RUSTENBURG HERALD - PRETORIA - Loftus came alive once again when the Vodacom Bulls took to the field against Ulster this past Saturday.

Spectators grabbed the opportunity to return to the stadium and some 25 000 people filled the stands.

And the team also relished the opportunity to play in front of a crowd again.

Marcell Coetzee, captain of the Vodacom Bulls, also gave a stellar performance against his former side Ulster. After trailing 9-3 at half time the Bulls, playing in front of close to 25,000 fans, scored four tries in the second half to earn a vital bonus-point win over the Irish side and boost their playoff hopes in the Vodacom United Rugby Championship.

It was a memorable day for Bulls captain Coetzee, who got the comeback started when he dived over the tryline from short range just two minutes into the second half. As cliché as it sounds, the game was very much one of two halves. Ulster's slow poison paid off for the visitors in the first half as they pinned the Bulls in their own territory. The home side did not help themselves with some poor discipline allowing scrumhalf Nathan Doak to slot three penalties, one of which was from behind the halfway line. The Bulls came out firing in the second half and Smith's conversion of Coetzee's try gave them the lead for the first time in the match, which they never surrendered. An Ulster error was then pounced on by Harold Vorster, who offloaded to Madosh Tambwe and the wing did excellently to finish in the corner under pressure. Ulster's half got worse as Kieran Treadwell was sent to sin bin in the 65th minute for a dangerous tackle and the Bulls immediately capitalised, as hooker Johann Grobbelaar scored from a maul. While Ulster struck back through Luke Marshall, that would prove to be a consolation as Kurt-Lee Arendse scored a brilliant intercept try to cap a 34-16 win - and bonus point. The result has the Bulls, for the time being, leapfrogging the Sharks into sixth place on the table. This weekend the Bulls will face the Stormers in what will be a massive game for deciding who tops the South African Shield.
