Expected fuel price in February

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Mid-month data from the Central Energy Fund (CEF) points to a smaller drop in prices for petrol and diesel in February 2023 due to rising international petroleum costs.

According to the CEF's data, as at 13 January 2023, petrol prices are expected to come down by as much as 25 cents a litre, while diesel is on track for a 50 to 60 cents per litre drop.

These are the expected changes: Petrol 93: decrease of 18 cents a litre; Petrol 95: decrease of 25 cents a litre; Diesel 0.05%: decrease 50 cents a litre; Diesel 0.005%: decrease of 63 cents a litre;

Illuminating paraffin: decrease of 46 cents a litre. The Department of Energy has stressed that the daily snapshots are not predictive and do not cover other potential changes like slate levy adjustments or retail margin changes, which are determined by the department at the end of the month, taking all variables into account.

The DoE makes adjustments based on a review of the entire period. Furthermore, the outlook can change significantly before month-end.

Ultimately, the expected price changes are contingent on current market conditions persisting through the end of the month. Local fuel price fluctuations are impacted by two main factors – the international price of petroleum products, driven mainly by oil prices, and the rand/dollar exchange rate used to purchase these products. In the first half of the month, global oil prices dropped significantly and then rebounded.

While this movement is still contributing to an over-recovery in local prices, its impact is lower than at the start of the month. Meanwhile, the rand has remained in a relatively stronger position versus the dollar, boosting the expected drop.

Mantashe's Eskom claims misleading - expert

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Energy expert Chris Yelland said claims that there can be a sudden improvement in Eskom's energy availability factor to stop loadshedding is misleading the public.

Mineral Resources and Energy Minister Gwede Mantashe told eNCA South Africa's energy crisis could be solved within six to twelve months. Commenting on the loadshedding problem, Mantashe said, "it will take us six to 12 months to sort out the issue if we pay attention to it".

"Eskom, as a state-owned entity, must do introspection to establish if it has the technical capacity to deal with the crisis. If not, can we go out and look for that capacity," he said.He added that Eskom power station managers are all young, qualified engineers without any experience.

"That is a shortcoming that we have to deal with and confront," he said. Mantashe said Eskom's primary problem is technical and that talk of green energy replacing coal-fired plants is causing harm. "Talk of the closure of coalfired power stations is creating an environment where people who run Eskom don't see the urgency of ensuring that those power stations must give us energy," he said.

Eskom energy availability factor

Comments from Mantashe that South Africa's energy crisis can be resolved within a year come after the appointment of a new Eskom board in October 2022. When the board was appointed, its mandate was to increase Eskom's energy availability factor (EAF) to 75%. The energy availability factor shows the percentage of time the power station was available for use when it was needed. It is a core measure of performance. There is such a strong focus on improving Eskom's EAF because it is directly linked to load-shedding. If the EAF can be improved to around 70%, loadshedding will be a thing of the past, and South Africa will have electricity security. However, claims of fixing the energy crisis within six to twelve months and increasing the energy availability factor to 75% are misguided. Energy expert Chris Yelland explained that the energy availability factor is on a declining downward trend, and it has been so for the past five years. The EAF is based on the average performance of 90 generators in Eskom's electricity generation fleet. "You cannot maintain or fix them simultaneously," he said. What this means, mathematically, is that the EAF is a continuum. There cannot be a discontinuity – also known as a step change in the EAF trend. "To increase Eskom's EAF, there first has to be a slowdown. It then has to bottom out, stabilise, and start to rise. This process will take several years," he said. "It is mathematically impossible for this to happen in the 2023/2024 or 2024/2025 financial years," Yelland said. Talk of a 70% or 75% energy availability factor is misleading the public, and it is not achievable by Eskom.

Eskom is dying – and there is only one way to save it

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Efficient Group chief economist Dawie Roodt says Eskom is dying.

The only way to save it is to place it under business rescue, restructure the company, and fire thousands of employees. Speaking to Nuuspod, Roodt said Eskom is hopelessly bankrupt and financially and operationally nearly unsalvageable.

"Eskom has 20,000 workers who should not be there, and they even received big salary increases when there is no money," he said. Apart from its financial predicament, the company is collapsing operationally and cannot fulfil its mandate to provide South Africa with enough electricity.

Roodt said the only way to save Eskom is for the government to realise there is a crisis and place it under business rescue. The company can then be restructured. It will include firing thousands of employees, selling off assets, and getting private sector participation. All contracts will have to be looked at to ensure they are above board and that Eskom gets what is promised. Employees facing the chop are likely to protest, which Roodt said will require the South African National Defence Force to protect Eskom's infrastructure.

Although it is possible to save Eskom, Roodt said it is impossible under the current ANC government with ministers like Gwede Mantashe and Pravin Gordhan. "The current government doesn't have the backbone to make tough decisions, like placing Eskom under business rescue and cutting staff." he said. He added that moving the power utility from the Department of Public Enterprises to the Department of Mineral Resources and Energy is of no value and can even make matters worse. There is a lot of political interference and political play behind the scenes at Eskom, which is harming the company. "It is a ten to fifteen-year process to save Eskom, but the current government don't have the political will to do what is needed to save the company," he said.

Roodt says the private sector is taking over electricity generation already. The alternative to placing Eskom in business rescue is that it will go the same route as South African Airways.

"We are in the process of privatising Eskom. Eskom is falling apart, and the private sector is simply taking over where it can," he said. He explained that privatisation isn't a formal policy or ideological stance but simply that the private sector offers services where the state has failed.

Many businesses in South Africa are installing rooftop solar and battery systems or diesel generators to supply their own electricity.

Private solar and wind farms are also developed to provide additional green energy to businesses and households.

The move to private power will inevitably lead to job cuts at Eskom, similar to what was seen at South African Airways.

"SAA had ten turnaround plans, and they all failed. The company was ultimately run into the ground financially and operationally," he said. "Eskom will go the same way.'

It, therefore, makes sense for the government to lead an orderly process to privatise Eskom instead of what has happened at SAA, which can be disastrous for the country.

'Country' legende oorlede

In die jare sewentigs het 'n jong man meteens die Suid-Afrikaanse musiekmark aan sy voete gehad. Die donkerkop Tommy Oliver se 'I wanna Live' het die treffersparade in 1973 getref en vir weke lank die nommer 1-posisie gehou. Hy het dié sukses opgevolg met nog 'n treffer, 'Just an everlovin'woman'. Sy weergawe van 'Toy Train' en 'Baby Blue' was ook baie gewild. Tommy is op 20 Desember 1950 as Tommy Hollamby op 'n familieplaas buite Rustenburg gebore. Hy het Maandag (16 Januarie) 'n lang stryd teen kanker verloor.

voor jou het? Wanneer die garnering uit meer as 'n tamatietjie en 'n verwese stukkie blaarslaai bestaan. Maar jy kan élke gereg laat lyk asof dit onder die hande van 'n vooraanstaande sjef deurgeloop het! Jy sal ook baie verbaas wees om te ontdek dat dit baie makliker is as wat jy verwag het.

Sjef Johann Ludick van Under the Cherry Blossom in Safarituine wys vir ons dié week stap-vir-stap hoe om Koraalkant (Coral Tuile) te maak.

Koraalkant-garnering

Jy benodig:

90ml Water 10g Koekmeel 2g Sout

'n Druppel koekkleursel (enige kleur. Ons gebruik rooi)

Olyfolie om te braai

Metode:

Meng die meel, water, sout en koekkleursel. Verwarm die olyfolie in 'n pan.

Skep sowat 80ml van die mengsel in die warm olie.

Laat kook tot die mengsel gaatjies vorm en dit soos kant begin lyk.

Sodra dit maklik is om uit die pan te haal, verwyder en laat afkoel.

Under the Cherry

Blossom se sjef Johann Ludick kén die kuns van kosmooimaak.

Die koraalkant is reg om Under the Cherrie Blossom se sjef Johann Ludick se geregte te versier.

Olyfolie, 'n bietjie meel, water en 'n knippie sout is al wat jy nodig het om koraalkant te maak.

Na 'n paar minute in die pan verander die meelmengsel in koskuns.

Art competition - Enter now

SHONISANI RAMBAU CONSTRUCTION

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Aspiring artists hoping to make a few extra pennies from Rustenburg Herald's Art competition, will be overjoyed by a slight adjustment of the rules for the competition.

From this week, artists are no longer required to attach their entries (art works) onto the blank space regularly printed in Rustenburg Herald and/or Bonus as it is believed to somewhat restrict artists in as far as size is concerned. At the same time Rustenburg Herald would not necessarily have to sacrifice the, in fact, very much needed space of an empty/blank page to accommodate these entries. From now on artists are required to attach their works of art to THIS PAGE or use the page as your canvas to paint or scetch on. Make sure that the date and page number of THIS edition are still visible. To complete your entry, simply complete the entry form at the top of this page, attach it to your artwork and "post" your entry into the entry boxes at both participating Pick n Pay Stores - Pick n Pay Azalea Park, Greystone Crossing or Pick n Pay Lifestyle Square, Beyers Naudé Avenue in Midtown Rustenburg or at reception of Rustenburg Herald's offices in 13 Coetzer Street, Eastern Industrial Area, Rustenburg, Remember - two cash prizes of R1 000 each sponsored by Rustenburg Herald are up for grabs to the two quarterly winners with two extremely valuable Pick n Pay Shopping Vouchers to the value of R10 000 each are waiting for the two overall winners of the Rustenburg Herald Art competition. These prizes are sponsored courtesy Pick n Pay Beyers Naudé and Pick n Pay Greystone Crossing.

New Haval Jolion S launched in S

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Haval has launched the Jolion S in South Africa with an uprated powerplant, unique design, and exclusive features setting it apart from the rest of the range.

offered with a single engine option consisting of a 1.5-litre, turbo-petrol mill connected either to a six-speed manual or seven-speed automatic transmission. Now, however, this power unit can be had with an additional 25kW and 60Nm with drive solely handled by the automatic shifter.

The S slots in at the top of the Jolion family with a starting price of R479,950, carrying a 5-year/100,000km warranty and 5-year/60,000km service plan.

What's newThe main addition to the new Jolion is a larger turbocharger bolted to the same 1.5-litre motor as in its siblings, allowing for a peak power output of 130kW and 270Nm.

Furthermore, the S assures "extensively enhanced ride and handling performance during both regular and sporty driving," said

Until now, the crossover has only been Haval, thanks to independent multi-link rear suspension in place of the torsion beams used in the standard derivatives.

Several driving modes are further included covering Comfort, Eco, Light, Snow, Sports, and Standard; as is Launch Control - an S-exclusive ability that allows drivers "to extract maximum performance from the drivetrain when accelerating from a standstill position."

The manufacturer has yet to reveal the newcomer's performance figures or fuel consumption, though with its increased power levels, we expect the latter to exceed the claimed 7.5I/100km of its siblings.

Along with the more capable drivetrain, the Jolion S is enhanced with a unique front grille boasting a chrome honeycomb pattern, gloss black 18-inch alloys, and blacked-out front and rear bumpers, side mirror caps, door beadings,

Based on the Super Luxury specification, Haval's new crossover is equipped as standard with a 7-inch digital driver's cluster, 12.3-inch infotainment system with Apple CarPlay and Android Auto, six-speaker stereo, paddle shifters, a wireless charger, dual-zone climate control, automatic LED headlights, an ecoleather multifunction steering wheel and seats, keyless entry and start, a 360-degree camera system, parking sensors, and a panoramic sunroof.

Additionally, it comes with a healthy selection of advanced driver assistance programmes including adaptive cruise control, blind-spot detection, lane-change and keep assist, lane departure alert, driver fatigue detection, trafficjam assist, intelligent-turning assist, traffic-sign recognition, and ABS with brake assist.

The S is now also the only Jolion model in the line-up to have front-seat heating, pre-collision warnings, and automatic emergency braking.

Eating healthily can make you happy

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Yes, it's that time of the

To eat healthily, you don't need to deprive yourself.

Food should be a pleasure, and that's still true even if you're trying to eat healthily. Although some diet plans focus on negatives, implying you have to cut out everything you like, that doesn't have to be the case.

In fact, completely cutting out foods or even whole food groups isn't necessarily a good idea. Not only is it potentially unbalanced, it can lead > to a sense of failure if you can't resist something on the 'banned' list – making it more likely you'll give up altogether. In any case, a diet regime that feels like a chore will be difficult to stick to in the long term. Eating healthily by focusing on positive steps rather than negative ones is much easier and often more effective, too.

More of the right things

Eating more may seem strange if you're trying to lose weight, but eating at regular intervals (three nutritious meals a day, plus snacks if needed) and eating more of the right things can help. Don't focus on what you can't have, focus on what you can have - fruits and vegetables, white and oily fish, wholegrain and high-fibre starchy carbohydrates. This will leave less room for foods like fatty or processed meats, and salty or sugary snacks and drinks.

Don't focus on what you can't have, focus on what you can have

Doing this will help balance your diet, which should mean you get all the nutrients, vitamins and minerals needed for good health and the right amount of energy, making it easier to maintain a healthy weight.

Fill up on fruit and veg

Having at least five portions of fruits and vegetables each day can help protect your heart and reduce your risk of dying from a heart attack or stroke. What's more, the fibre content will fill you up and reduce temptation from unhealthy Eating more fruit and vegetables is easy. Add stewed fruit, sliced banana or berries to yoghurt or porridge for breakfast. Put extra veg in soups, stews and sauces, or just have an extra portion or two alongside your main meal. Fruit is an obvious snack, but don't overlook vegetables - cut sweet peppers, carrots, celery or cucumber into batons so they're ready when hunger strikes, or simply wash cherry tomatoes and radishes. Adding pomegranate seeds, grapes or apples to salads can make them look and taste more exciting.

Whole lot of grains

Wholegrain foods such as bread, brown rice and wholemeal pasta are a source of fibre, so choose them over white varieties to keep your digestive system healthy. Other wholegrains like oats also provide soluble fibre that can help lower cholesterol levels. You could have porridge or a wholegrain bagel for breakfast, wholemeal pasta salad for lunch and grilled chicken and brown rice salad for dinner. Wholegrain rice cakes topped with banana are an easy snack.

Go for fish

Aim to have two portions of fish a week and make one of these an oily fish such as salmon, mackerel, trout or fresh tuna (not tinned). Oily fish is a source of protein and provides omega-3 fatty acids, associated with reducing your risk of heart and circulatory disease. Adding fish to your diet can help reduce your meat intake and the saturated fat and salt that can come with it.

Colour it in Making meals colourful increases their appeal. Add a variety of coloured vegetables such as tomatoes, spinach, yellow peppers, beetroot, carrots and sweetcorn to make your meals look great on the plate, and more nutritious too. It's also good from a nutrition perspective to eat a range of colours, as different fruits and vegetables have varying nutritional benefits.

There's even evidence that using coloured plates (or cups or straws) can influence your perception of foods. Pink and white striped straws create an illusion of sweetness, making vegetable-based smoothies more palatable. Likewise, eating leafy green vegetables like spinach or broccoli can be more pleasant from a red plate.

Enjoy your food

There's no point eating food you don't enjoy. Try out different foods to find ones you love. Find hundreds of heart-healthy recipe ideas. We've also got healthy versions of your favourite takeaway dishes, such as chicken and green bean curry, dry masala prawns, and red onion, courgette and year again: To promise yourself you will make better lifestyle choices. Normally, it doesn't last long - your goals and your methods are unrealistic and un sustainable.

It takes around 20 minutes to feel full once you've finished eating. Slowing down as you eat and taking time to enjoy your food can help you resist a second helping or dessert.

Die redakteur,

Wie op hierdie aarde kan op so pad ry en dit is die pad wat deurloop na die ingang van Hoërskool Grenswag. Hoe verwag die Rustenburgse Munisipaliteit dat inwoners van Rustenburg, wat hul geld elke maand vir dienste gelewer deur Munisipaliteit moet betaal, tevrede moet wees om op so pad te moet ry om hulle kinders elke dag by die skool te kry. Mens kan nie eers meer langs die teer op die grond ry nie, want die grond het net soveel gate, mens kan ook nie daar ry nie. Waar ry mens? Dit is mos darem regtig onaanvaarbaar. Kan die Rustenburgse Munisipaliteit asseblief aandag hieraan gee. Doen jouself 'n guns en gaan kyk self hoe dit lyk en probeer daar met 'n gewone voertuig ry, dit is werklik belaglik en dit is ook nie die enigste straat in Rustenburg wat so lyk nie, dit word net erger en erger.

Eskom-kragkrisis op 'n mespunt

Loshande die meeste Suid-Afrikaners het in hul Kersfees -en Nuwejaarsvieringe oor die afgelope feesseisoen die vertroue uitgespreek dat 2023 'n veel beter jaar as verlede jaar gaan wees. Praat van koue water - sommer hier aan die begin van die nuwe jaar is dit duidelik dat ons hiervan maar kan vergeet en ons sal moet staal vir 'n jaar waarin die land se kragkrisis van die afgelope agt jaar op die spits gedryf gaan word. Enige hoop wat tot nou toe nog gesluimer het dat Eskom en die regering vanjaar dalk net daarin sal slaag om 'n haas uit die hoed te pluk en Suid-Afrika uit sy penarie met 'n dreigende kragineenstorting te red, is nou in alle waarskynlikheid daarmee heen.

Vandeesweek moes ons hoor dat president Cyril Ramaphosa die "opoffering" gemaak het om sy bywoning van die Wêreld Ekonomiese Forum in Davos, Switserland te kanselleer om hier aan die Eskomkrisis aandag te gee. Dit is goed ja, maar in dieselfde asem wil ons amper vra - watter verskil het president Ramaphosa hoegenaamd sedert sy verkiesing as president van die ANC en die land in 2017 aan enigiets in Suid-Afrika gemaak, behalwe om toe te kyk hoe dinge in die land dramaties agteruit gaan, hoe misdaadvlakke die hoogte inskiet, hoe die brandstofprys met Suid-Afrikaners weghardloop, hoe die prys van elektrisiteit feitlik elke kwartaal dramaties verhoog (en deur Nersa goedgekeur word) en hoe Suid-Afrikaners feitlik daagliks meer en meer betaal vir krag wat al hoe minder beskikbaar is? Die ellelang lys van gebreke en tekortkominge hou glad nie hier op nie.

President Ramaphosa kan Suid-Afrikaners wat net 'n paar jaar gelede oor sy onseteling van Jacob Zuma gejuig het, nie kwalik neem as hulle nou toenemend tot die gevolgtrekking kom dat Ramaphosa se verkiesing waarskynlik 'n fout was nie. Nie een keer het hy Suid-Afrikaners in sy vertroue geneem en met hulle oop kaarte gespeel nie. Nie rondom Phaala-Phaala nie, nie eers gedurende die Covid-19-pandemie nie, trouens, hy het selfs sover gegaan om toe te laat dat Nkosazana Dlamini-Zuma Suid-Afrikaners in 'n beproewende tyd in hul huise vasgekluister en uit hul besighede verbied het terwyl sy Minister van Gesondheid Zwele Mkhize die pandemie gebruik het om homself skaamteloos te verryk net om skaars twee jaar later straffeloos voort te marsjeer om as presidentskandidaat in die ANC-konferensie te staan. Vir die meeste mense wil dit lyk of Ramaphosa se enigste oorwinnings die afgelope twee jaar tot sy hofgedinge teenoor Jacob Zuma beperk was maar dat hy verder nie 'n duit omgegee het nie. Tot dusver het Ramaphosa nie 'n enkele krisis in Suid-Afrika opgelos nie - wat maak

Eskom crisis on a knife's edge

During the festive season countless South Africans must have expressed the trust that 2023 would be a better year than that of its predecessor. To these people - sorry for the cold water on your backs. Barely are we at the end of the first month of the new year or it is abundantly clear that his year will be remembered as the one which saw the country's electricity crisis pushed to extremes and wherein we had to brace ourselves for even harder times ahead. By now even those people who have thought that perhaps, just perhaps this year the government and Eskom would finally succeed in getting the better of the country's deteriorating electricity arising will scaling that it had been posting but a pine dream.

crisis, will realize that it had been nothing but a pipe dream.

This week we have heard that President Ramaphosa made the "ultimate" sacrifice of cancelling his attendance of the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland to focus on the country's struggle if not survival for electricity. At the same time however, we wish to ask, what difference whatsoever has Ramaphosa made in the country since his election as President of the ANC as well as President of the country in 2017 except to witness crime levels catapulting to ridiculous levels, to see the fuel price running away with South Africans, to see electricity becoming increasingly unaffordable, yet increasingly unavailable. Despite so many talks and promises, Ramaphosa and government couldn't make anything of repeated undertakings to put a stop to load shedding, neither did he trust South Africans with the truth on Phaala-Phaala. Speaking of trust - neither did he confide in South Africans during the hardships of Covid-19 when he allowed Nkosazana Dlamini-Zuma without due reason, to carelessly restrict South Africans to their homes and out of their businesses. Yet, he barely lifted a finger when the ANC's own health Minister - Zwele Mkhize helped himself and his family to millions of rand earmarked for Covid-19 health care but nonetheless proceeded to march with apparent impunity towards contesting the ANC's Presidential election during the ANC most recent conference?

Many South Africans will agree that to the man in the street, it seems that Ramaphosa's only noteworthy victories were restricted to his litigation against Jacob Zuma but furthermore he appeared to be without a worry in the world to the plight of ordinary South Africans. To conclude, no, we can't remember Ramaphosa resolving any crisis whatsoever in South Africa in recent years - why would Eskom be different?

Remembering Hettie Thorne

The Editor

Rustenburg Herald's obituary and short article on the late Hettie Thorne of last week has evoked wonderful memories among people who can still remember a "young" Rustenburg in days long gone by - especially Rustenburg during the early to the mid seventies. I (MelissaThorne) have been living in Johannesburg for quite some time now and wish to post a number of photographs, tributes and people's fondest memories of Hettie's during these years on You Tube and perhaps other Social Media forums. Rustenburg people who remember and knew my mother well and who would love to share their stories of special moments or incidents of them and her with us, are invited to send these to melissawami@gmail.com - copies of photographs would also be appreciated. Melissa can also be contacted on 082 429 4842. In meantime, keep watching for more news on Hettie's life and times - you will be notified via Rustenburg Herald. Melissa Thorne

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Die boksikoon, Gerrie Coetzee, is bietjie meer as 'n week gelede oorlede.

Gerrie het in 1983 'n huishoudelike naam in Suid-Afrika geword toe hy die swaargewigbokskampioen van die wêreld geword het. Hy het dié byna ongelooflike gedoen toe hy die Amerikaner, Michael Dokes, op 23 September 1983 in Cleveland, Ohio in die tiende rondte uitgeslaan het en sodoende vir hom die noemnaam 'Boksburg Bomber' verwerf het. Met hierdie oorwinning het hy die eerste bokser uit Afrika geword om 'n wêreldswaargewigtitel te wen.

Gerrie het 33 van sy 40 professionele gevegte gewen - 21 keer het hy gewen deur sy teenstander planke toe te stuur met 'n uitklophou. Van die vegters wat hy in die kryt deur hul passies gesit het, was Mike Weaver, Leon Spinks, James Tillis, Greg Page en Pinklon Thomas.

Gerrie is Donderdag (12 Januarie) oorlede nadat hy twee weke voor dit met longkanker gediagnoseer is. Hy word oorleef deur sy vrou, Rina en sy kinders, Lana en Gerald, asook deur 'n broer en 'n suster.

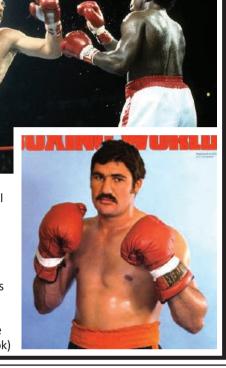

Gerrie Coetzee mik 'n linkerhaakhou na Michael Dokes tydens hul geveg op 23 September 1983. Die geskiedkundige geveg is in die Richfield Coliseum in Cleveland, Ohio gehou. Hy het Dokes in die tiende rondte uitgeslaan om die WBA Wêreldswaargewigtitel te verower. (Foto's: Facebook)
