The Rustenburg Municipality on behalf of its contractors has called on non-residents of the Arend Avenue and surrounding areas in Safari Gardens to refrain from using the hectic Arend Avenue during the infamous early morning peak hour. It took considerable time before motorists in the area took notice of the call to take alternative routes on their way to the office or when taking their kids to school during the first two to three days of last week. By Monday this week, significant progress has been made to the Arend Avenue repair project following weeks of frustration and a health scare during the Arend Avenue Sewerage Disaster which lasted for almost seven weeks. Great news from early last week was that local construction giant - MCivils was awarded the contract to repair the weeks old sewerage pipe leakage and infrequent availability of water to extensions around the area. The project is expected to be very close to completed by the end of this week, Rustenburg Herald was told.

Arend Avenue as it is not seen often - only a handful of vehicles making their way towars the Helen Joseph junction and the uppermost eastern section of Arend Avenue.

Somewhat clearly reduced traffic at the junction of Arend Avenue and Helen Joseph Avenue in Safari Gardens after a call has been made by contractors of the Arend Avenue repair project on non-residents to refrain from using Arend Avenue. A heavily congested Area Avenue has significantly jeopardized progress since the early phases of the project, Rustenburg Herald was told.

The Rustenburg Municipality on behalf of the contractors working on the Arend Avenue repair project has called on non-residents in the area to refrain from using Arend Avenue until the project has been completed. Early morning peak traffic has significantly hindered contractors in the area from doing their job during the earlier phases of the project last Monday morning.

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Relief was tangible when a 15-month-old baby was brought to the surface after being trapped in a borehole for more than three hours.

Rustenburg Police spokesperson, Sqt Ofentse Mokgadi, the Phokeng Police received the call from the Fire Brigade at about 09:00 Thursday morning (16 March).

Apparently the borehole was left open by a contractor after not finding water. The toddler was left in the care of the elderly owner of the home for the day by his mother.

The little one managed to slip away unnoticed and fell into the 20 meter deep borehole.

Phokeng K9, Phokeng Visible Policing, the K9 units from Tshwane, Mahikeng and Vryburg were joined in the rescue operation by police divers from Potchefstroom as well as the rescue teams of Royal Bafokeng Reaction and Implats. Rustenburg ER 24 and Royal Bafokeng Mine Rescue Services also played a major role.

A hole was made next to the borehole and a rescue worker crawled through, risking life and limb to reach the child, Jean Cronje from Royal Bafokeng Mine Rescue recounts. He was one of the rescuers working non-stop to save the little boy.

"The child was successfully rescued, was attended to by the Royal Bafokeng medical services and then taken to Rustenburg Job Shimankana Tabane Hospital for treatment,"

Sgt Mokgadi said. According to a family member, Sello Magano, the brave little man is doing fine.

"That same evening he was already singing 'happy birthday' to me," Mr Magano told Rustenburg Herald during an interview after the incident.

SPCA to host another "blikskud" - please support

RUSTENBURG RUSTENBURG - Members and supporters of the Rustenburg SPCA will be having a "blikskud" fundraiser on the R24 bridge at the turn-off to the Waterfall Mall this Saturday, 25 March from 09:00 to approximately 12:00.

Motorists and passers-by are requested to please plan your support towards this very deserving cause in advance and to please have a few loose coins (of course notes will be very welcome) in your wallets.

The Rustenburg SPCA faces huge challenges in terms of rising costs, the ever rising price of petrol, the cost of veterinarians as well as the additional financial layout of a significant increase in stray pets and dogs (and other animals) during the Christmas holiday season. Sadly many people still leave their pets at home without sufficient care or food and water these animals escape their homes in one way or another and usually end up at the SPCA where they must be fed and cared for. Such an increase of stray pets places a huge burden in terms of dog or kitty food on the SPCA. Of course a donation of either canned (or bags) of doggy or kitty food will also be most welcome on Saturday - kitty food (pellets) in particular is mostly what we need. The SPCA is also in urgent need of dry blankets and bedding for pets.

It is an unfortunate fact that running an organisation such as the SPCA is no easy task and volunteers make up the bulk of our work force. Incidentally, if you are not tied up already on Saturday or if you have been wondering where and how you could assist the SPCA in making ends meet, please volunteer for our "blikskud" on Saturday - any help will be appreciated tremendously - even if it just for an hour of two. If you would be able to help, remember your sunscreen and your hat - also please phone Suenell on 082 462 2227. Please motorists - help the SPCA to help our beloved

Mieke weer opgeneem

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Mieke van den Berg (8) is in November 2022 gediagnoseer met akute limfoblastiese leukemie (ALL).

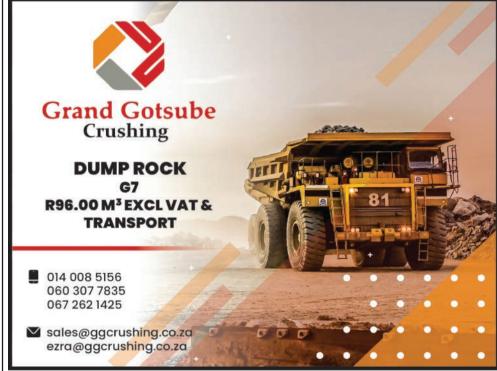

Mieke het oor die naweek reeds agt "convulsions/seizures" gehad binne 'n tydperk van vier en het steeds gereeld nog een so elke 10 tot 20 minute gekry. Die dokters weet nie wat is fout nie en wag vir bloeduitslae en toetsuitslae vir toetse wat nog gedoen moet word. Mieke is in Life Peglerae Hospitaal opgeneem vir 5 dae - vir observasie en toetse.

Bloedtoetse, CAT Scan, MRI Scan, xtrale en beenmurgtoetse word gedoen, omdat hulle nog nie weet wat om vir haar te gee nie. Die kostes om haar in Life Peglerae op te neem (omdat hulle nie met haar Pretoria toe kon ry nie) beloop R59 000. Dit sluit nie die MRI van R16 000 in nie.

Mieke is tans op 'n 12 maande wagtydperk vir enige behandeling om die leukemia te behandel en die medies betaal nie.

Dit staan al einde Maart se kant toe, maar in Rustenburg is daar nog min sprake van koeler herfsdae. Dit beteken dat dit steeds hopeloos te warm is om onnodige tyd voor 'n stoof te spandeer. Toe ek dié resep vir 'n blitsvinnige ligte maaltyd op Instagram raakloop, was dit so reg in my kraal - maklik, lekker en min moeite.

Department:

Agriculture and Rural Development North West Provincial Government REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

DEPARTMENT RE-ENGINEERS EXTENSION SERVICE TO ADVANCE AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTIVITY

The North-West Department of Agriculture and Rural Development (NWDARD) has intensified efforts to transform agricultural extension to advance production in the province. The Department hosted a 3-day Extension and Advisory services Lekgotla from 01-03 March 2023 at Woodlands Country Lodge near Parys. Key to the discussions of Lekgotla were issues around reviewing the implementation model of extension services in order to enhance its impact. Amongst those who attended provincial Extension Practitioners, Extension Managers, Departmental Senior Management Academia and Agricultural-related stakeholders. Beneficiaries of government interventions invariably identified extension and advisory services as a challenge and a contributory factor towards the minimal impact of government agricultural programmes. It is on this basis that the Department has undertaken the process of identifying how extension services can be more effective and efficient in that the Provincial Extension and Advisory services Lekgotla was necessary to develop better strategies in order to respond to farmers' needs.

Emphasizing on the purpose of Lekgotla, the Head of Department Mr Thupi Mokhatla said it was important to host a conversation that will yield a turn-around in agricultural extension in the province. "We need to look closer in our efforts and steer them towards better co-ordination of actions regarding Extension Policy implementation, as well as other policy documents," Mr Mokhatla said. He further said the first step was to identify the challenges impacting on Extension services and to provide possible solutions. HoD indicated that the NWDARD was to also align Extension service to the provincial refocusing strategy and the National Agro-processing Master Plan (AAMP). In setting the tone for Lekgotla, MEC Desbo Mohono called for Extension and Advisory Services officials to be revolutionaries with responsibilities to the people. She said it was necessary for them to look into

"Do you see your role as central to the development of your people; the alleviation of their poverty day to day life and the assurance of sustainable food security?" She asked as she reiterated on the need to keep strengthening the sector towards desired professional standards; to build an attractive image for the sector: to compare notes and reflect on how far they have come and to learn and grow our skills and knowledge base. She conceded that the sector is not without its challenges and opportunities which range from technology, financial and other material support, geographic spread, turnaround times and others.

She concluded by emphasizing the officers find space to be closer to beneficiaries of government

"A revolutionary must be able to move freely amongst his people and be one with them as fish is with water," she said. The NWDARD further plans to host An Extension and Advisory services Symposium which will involve farmers and extensions services officers together and getting views towards agricultural production. For now the Department will draw an action plan which will assist to address issues raised during Lekgotla and advance new approaches towards seamless extension service

NEW APPROACHES, METHODS AND PRINCIPLES CRITICAL TOWARDS DELIVERING AN EFFECTIVE EXTENSION SERVICE

An Agricultural Science qualification often seems to be an absolute key toward work as an agricultural extension officer. In practice it has been evident that over and above a qualification, many extension officers need skills as well as new innovative ways to perform their duties.

Professor Simon Letsoalo of the North-West University has asserted that new approaches, methods and principles are key to the work of an extension and advisory services official. He was reflecting on the Academic Perspective on Extension Practitioner Training, a presentation he delivered during the Provincial Extension and Advisory Services Lekgotla hosted by the North West Department of Agriculture and Rural Development from 01-03 March 2023. Professor Letsoalo reiterated that because of the dynamics of the agricultural sector and the various levels of farming community it was imperative that the Extension practitioners have "a bag" of necessary skills in order to effectively render services.

Extension comes in many sizes and shapes. There are many approaches and it is important that the extension officers apply approaches to the relevant commodity. The general extension approach is commonly used by may not be relevant to many other farmers as it is an approach that assumes that technology and knowledge that are appropriate for local people exist but are not being used by them. The approach is usually fairly centralized and government-controlled. Success is measured in the adoption rate of recommendations and increases in national production. Other approaches look into commodity specialization and are relevant for increased production. Although the expectation in many cases is about in-

North-West University is prepared to work with the North West Department of Agriculture and Rural Development to have a curriculum that will carry skills and knowledge and allow participants to demonstrate and practice the acquired skills.

On the other hand, Extension methods comprise the communication techniques that can be adopted by the practitioner and the farmer. This would basically facilitate farmers' decisions whether or not and how to adapt to certain suggested ways of farming. When equipped with agricultural methods, Professor Letsoalo indicated that it gets easy for an extension officer to pull an appropriate technique for each and

Amongst the key principles is that extension should assist people to make their own decisions amongst various alternatives put before them. Professor Letsoalo indicated that practitioners should be able to let go of farmers. "You cannot be advising one farmer for over 10 years. There should be a time when you let go of farmers. The intention is to help farmers to improve their productivity of their agriculture and to develop their abilities to direct their own future development," he said. He added that it was also critical to look into methods, approaches and principles that are aligned to the changing environment.

The North West provincial Extension and Advisory Services Lekgotla was aimed at identifying how extension services can be more effective and efficient. The contribution of academics was identified as imperative towards extension re-engineering efforts.

PRECISION AGRICULTURE NOW FOR A BETTER FARMING TOOL

The North-West Provincial Extension and Advisory Services Lekgotla has acknowledged that precision agriculture is a better tool for extension officers in line with the new technological advancement experienced to date. As part of the Lekgotla hosted by the North-West Department of Agriculture and Rural Development from 01-03 March 2023, an array of stakeholders participated in an effort to bring about a collaborative effort towards transformation of the extension service which is meant to ultimately impact on the agricultural production and economic contribution

As part of their contribution towards the Lekgotla, the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) has introduced precision agriculture as a better tool for farming. The system, which is digital by nature, allows extension officers to rely on data collection methods to address farmerS needs. Dr Sabelo Madonsela of CSIR said the system will allow extension officers to do more with less. The fact that the system would be accessed remotely means the tool is much relevant to the emerging

In essence, precision agriculture is the application of data information to optimize complex farming systems. Dr Madonsela said the focus with it is on access to data and the application of it in smart ways." The process involves smart farming operations to obtain real time data about availability of resources, soil conditions, climate/weather, condition of the crop, markets etc and smart systems to respond to threat," he further clarified.

He said with efforts to transform extension service it was important for the department to look into the tool that was going to assist to observe, measure and respond to field variables in crop growth parameters to optimize return on inputs while preserving resources.

Dr Madonsela indicated that the system will incorporate inputs of what extension practitioners want to also see in it.

GOVERNMENT, MINING AND HOSPITALITY INDUSTRIES PLEDGE TO WORK WITH FARMERS TO BREAK BARRIERS OF ACCESS TO MARKETS

It is time to break all barriers preventing smallholder farmers from accessing the market so they can sell their products and create more jobs for our people. This was a consensus at the Provincial Agricultural Market Access Summit organized by the North West Department of Agriculture and Rural Development in partnership with the Sun City resort that was held in Rustenburg from 26-28 February 2023.

Themed "Linking North West Smallholder Farmers to Market", the summit's objectives were amongst others to provide a platform at which stakeholders can discuss and exchange ideas on how to access and supply markets such as the hospitality and the mining industry and to provide an opportunity for all role players in the sector to interact for better understanding of market

The summit assembled key stakeholders such as farmers, organized agricultural formations, mining companies and representatives from the hospitality industry to have a conversation on issues and challenges facing farmers with regard to access to market.

One of the farmers, Mpho Bogatsu who is a beekeeper in Ditsobotla, said she welcomes the initiative by the Department for organizing the summit. She however, like many other farmers, said one of the challenges they have is access to the market. "We really need access to these markets. We are able to produce but we need these markets to open up and buy our products," Bogatsu said.

Her fellow farmer, Lesego Moeng from Moruleng Village near Rustenburg shared Bogatsu's sentiments. "As long as they can avail information and what is needed for one to supply them we can supply. With that information, I believe that we can do better," Moeng Delegates at the summit received presentations on various topics such as requirements for sustainable agro-processing business, agricultural market access for smallholder farmers and market opportunities for smallholder farmers.

Commenting on the three day summit Julius Ramotse from Sun City said the resort greatly appreciates for being part of the summit where potential markets, government and farmers came together to confirm the critical role agriculture is playing in the economy of the province.

"The Provincial Department of Agriculture and Rural Development's significant role as liaison and facilitator between agriculture and markets is confirmed again at this summit and is very encouraging. We as the Sun City resort are open for engagements with our local producers and we are looking forward to working with them in future." Ramotse concluded.

When speaking on the last day of the summit, MEC Desbo Mohono said she was happy that the Department managed to bring together smallholder farmers and industry-related experts as well as potential markets together under one roof for the transference of knowledge and networking.

She said what is needed now is action. "Our farmer's want action not just black and white documents that are just going to be filed. Economic growth and emancipation in the North West province will increase and open new markets for products of our farmers which are the back-bone to this important transition," Mohono

SUMMIT YIELDS EXPECTED RESULTS

The recent Provincial Agricultural Market Access Summit that took place at Sun City Resort and organized by the Department for farmers, vielded the much-expected results with farmers expressing gratitude and enthusiasm to collaborate in order to meet the demand of specified products as well as market standards to have their produce at the Resort menu for the thousands of guests it hosts yearly. Farmers and the department seized the networking opportunity to establish a relationship with mining houses and Sun City and that has seen two farmers who exhibited their products at the summit getting access to supply the Resort's restaurants with their products which meet the markets standards and requirements.

Presenting at the inauguration of the three-day gathering on the Agricultural Market Access for Smallholder Farmers, Mr Stern Manthata from the National Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development emphasized on the importance of having off-take agreements with the identified market. "Often times farmers find themselves with produce that gets spoiled because they do not have a market to supply to, leaving them with a loss. The only way to make sure all they produce is sold is by securing a market by having a binding agreement that once harvesting takes place the commodities should be delivered to the client whilst it is still in the expected condition thus ensuring that industry standards and quality are met," emphasized Mr Manthata

Linking farmers to the market by affording them the opportunity to present their product capacity through commissions was an effort appreciated by stakeholders.

The commission on red meat expressed the need to have quality control beginning from the farm throughout the value-chain right up to delivery to the end user, whilst the commission on grain processing accentuated how they will collaborate with each other to supply clients with their grain of choice.

Grain producer, Seitshiro Mozzart Marumoloe of Boripane Enterprises who hails from Springbokpan in the Ngaka Modiri Molema District spoke on organizing themselves as a cooperative and investing in reaching out to the market to be able to supply. "We have quantified what is necessarily needed out of our concept to be able to supply what is needed out of this particular market. The simplest and best way to be able to afford a large market is to collaborate to be able to reach out to this opportunity which is the market as farmers. We are investing in the process by working as a team by bringing resources together to plant, harvest, process, store and transport what is needed out of our concept" said the young farmer.

MARKET ACCESS SUMMIT INSTILLS HOPE FOR MANY SMALLHOLDER FARMERS

Tshepo Moitlobo. Moitlobo (on your right) with a colleague at the recent summit organised by the Department. She is into poultry and also plants vegetables such as tomatoes and chilies. She also processes these vegetables to produce chili sauce and tomato jam. She commended both the Department and the Sun City Resort for organizing and hosting a summit of this extent for them as smallholder farmers where they were able to engage with potential markets.

The agricultural markets are characterized by dominance of larger commercial producers, whilst the smallholder producers are grappling with significant barriers to entry into the market sphere.

Smallholder producers face challenges of compliance to quality standards, poor access to markets, technologies and skills which results in failure to beneficiate. But many young farmers who were part of the recent three day summit say the gathering was a great platform for them not only to network but to learn as well.

One of them is Timothy Mogale from Goedgevonden near Ventersdorp town. Timothy is a beekeeper. He is operating his beekeeping business Moatane Atang from his family house in Goedgevonden. He sells his honey to fellow villagers. He is one of the producers who is eager to penetrate the market to sell his products. He praised the Department for organising such an informative summit. "The summit was very interesting,' Mogale said

The other young farmer who was part of the same summit organized by the Department of Agriculture and Rural Development with support of Sun City Resort is Tshepo Moitlobo. She is a young female farmer from Rietvlei near Rustenburg.

She commended both the Department and the Sun City Resort for organizing and hosting a summit of this extent for them as smallholder farmers where they were able to engage with potential markets.

Moitlobo is in poultry and also plants vegetables such as tomato and chilies. She also processes these vegetables to produce chili sauce and tomato iam.

She also farms with goats and cattle. With regards to markets, Moitlobo had this to say, "It is not always easy for us as smallholder farmers to sell our products but I change for the better," said Moitlobo. She sells her products to community members and to local vendors in her village.

She also has a small market for goats in the of immense value to us as farmers from across the province. The emphasis was on access to the markets and the need for us as farmers to work together. There is so much that one has learned from this convention," Moitlobo highlighted. She went further and said the knowledge neighboring province of Gauteng.

"The summit was very informative and and the interactions she has had with her fellow farmers will go a long way in helping her personally as a young farmer in taking the next step in her farming journey," Moitlobo said.

For other young and upcoming farmers. Tshepo Moitlobo said they should not be discouraged by anything. "Farming is not an easy space but with determination. anyone can make it," She emphasised. am hopeful that after this summit things will Maitlobo has received extension and advisory services from the Department and she is more determined and positive that the resolutions taken at this summit will be implemented to help them as farmers.

Glencore Ferroalloys partners with Ligbron eLearning System to improve Rustenburg Schools results

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG Mathematics and physical science are regarded as the two most crucial gateway subjects to take in high school as they can be key in setting up students for success, no matter which career path they choose.

However, in recent years there has been a decrease in the number of students who select these two subjects. In 2022, The Outlier reported that only one in three Grade 12 students wrote mathematics and only one in four wrote science in the 2021 National Senior Certificates Exams.

These are one of the many reasons that prompted Glencore Ferroalloys' Boshoek Smelter operation, together with the Department of Education to introduce the Ligbron e-Learning System to local schools in and around Glencore operations in Boshoek and Macharora.

The Ligbron e-Learning System, which is the first in the North West Province, connects schools all over South Africa into an online learning network to live stream mathematics and science lessons using video conferencing and desktop sharing.

In South Africa, mathematics is a compulsory subject, but learners can choose to do mathematical literacy, a practical alternative to pure mathematics. However, mathematical literacy is not accepted for most STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math) studies in tertiary institutions.

The Boshoek Smelter CSR and investment strategy is to focus on the areas of social and community development, infrastructure, education, health and wellness, school sports development, arts and culture as well as local business development initiatives. The Ligbron e-Learning System for mathematics and science is one of the various initiatives launched to support the advancement of education at Charora High School.

In addition, the smelter relies on various skill sets such as engineers or metallurgists to help reach its organisational goals, as such the focus for bursary selection is on students selecting STEM-related studies.

On Monday 27 February, the smelter officially launched the Ligbron e-Learning System at one of its beneficiaries, Charora High School, which is situated in Robega Village near Rustenburg.

Glencore Ferroalloys' Chief Community and Social Responsibility Officer, Conroy van der Westhuizen, encouraged the learners to embrace the subjects head-on and not let any negative views deter them from following their dreams.

"We are so happy and eager to progress with our learning through this programme, as we have already attended a few classes. It has been so interesting to see a difference in our interpretation and understanding of the different mathematical problems. The encouragement from hearing a different voice, seeing different solutions, and approaching the questions in another light has been really motivating for me. Thank you Ligbron and Boshoek Smelter for giving us an opportunity to succeed," said Khatliso Masiya, a Charora High School grade 12 learner.

Furthermore, through their scholarship programme, the smelter supports four learners from the school due to their excellent marks in mathematics and science. These learners are potential bursary applicants and investing in their abilities early on sets them up for success, which speaks to the smelter's commitment to developing educational opportunities that will uplift its communities.

Glencore's imperative to make strategic investments in its communities remains consistent, with a key focus on creating self-sustaining communities through each

Rustenburg Herald Art competition - first of "new standard" entries received

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Aspiring artists hoping to make a few extra Pounds or pennies from Rustenburg Herald's Art competition, will be overjoyed by a slight adjustment of the rules for the competition.

From this year artists are no longer required to attach their entries (art works) onto the blank space regularly printed in Rustenburg Herald and/or Bonus as it is believed to somewhat restrict artists in as far as size is concerned. At the same time Rustenburg Herald would not necessarily have to sacrifice the, in fact, very much needed space of an empty/blank page to accommodate these entries. From now on artists are required to attach their works of art to THIS PAGE or use the page as your canvas to paint or sketch on. Make sure that the date and page number of THIS edition are still visible. To complete your entry, simply complete the entry form at the top of this page, attach it to your artwork and "post" your entry into the entry boxes at both participating Pick n Pay Stores - Pick n Pay Azalea Park, Greystone Crossing or Pick n Pay Lifestyle Square, Beyers Naudé Avenue in Midtown Rustenburg or at reception of Rustenburg Herald's offices in 13 Coetzer Street, Eastern Industrial Area, Rustenburg. Remember two cash prizes of R1 000 each sponsored by Rustenburg Herald are up for grabs to the two quarterly winners with two extremely valuable Pick n Pay Shopping Vouchers to the value of R10 000 each are waiting for the two overall winners of the Rustenburg Herald Art competition. These prizes are sponsored courtesy Pick n Pay Beyers Naudé and Pick n Pay Greystone Crossing. Come on - get those entries rolling...

Church 4 Bikers and Community - it's time for change

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - In May 2009 Pastor Sakkie/Desiree Holtzhausen planted the first Biker Church in Rustenburg after they received the calling by the Lord to do so, it was at first quite challenging, especially to win the Biker community's trust and to let them know they are accepted in a church environment where they would not be judged.

{StandpuntViewpoint}*

Mense nie meer lus vir anargie, swak regerings nie

Nie veel het toe gekom van Suid-Afrika se "Rooi Party" se waarskuwing en dreigemente dat hy die land Maandag tot stilstand sou dwing om aan soveel as moontlik Suid-Afrikaners te bewys dat die EFF namens al hoe meer mense in Suid-Afrika "praat" nie. Daarom dat hy nou ook die reg het om te besluit wanneer en hoe die land tot stilstand gedwing gaan word, hoe lank die protes gaan duur en watter vorm dit gaan aanneem - selfs al is dit die hoeveelste keer dat die EFF 'n tot-stilstand-toe-dag uitroep. Dit alles, of moet ons sê "hierdie keer" omdat die EFF keelvol is vir beurtkrag en omdat hy wil hê dat president Cyril Ramaphosa sy bedanking moet indien - omdat die EFF daarop aandring! En moenie 'n fout maak nie, die EFF het in 'n stadium die verbeelding van soveel Suid-Afrikaners as 'n politieke oplossing vir Suid-Afrika se talle probleme aangegryp, dat baie van hulle bereid sou wees om rubberkoeëls, sambok en toesluit te trotseer ten einde hul doel te bereik, maar dit het nie vreeslik lank gehou nie. Miskien is dit die party se bra gemiddelde prestasie by die stembus die afgelope paar jaar wat baie van sy ondersteuners laat besef het dat dit nie sommer maar net 'n kwessie van "vat" is nie. Selfs onder derduisende Suid-Afrikaners (miljoene is seker nader aan die waarheid?) wie se gesonde politieke oordeel hulle in elk geval nou al vir wie weet hoeveel jaar in die steek gelaat het deur vir 'n party te stem wat baie duidelik nie die mas kon opkom om hierdie land op verantwoordelike en behoorlike wyse te bestuur nie, het dit blykbaar ook nou duidelik geword dat dié land kwalik 'n nóg slegter, 'n minder verantwoordelike en meer radikale regering kan bekostig.

Om te dink dat die ANC wetend of onwetend só slim was, dat hy sy uitdager by die stembus klaarblyklik koudgesit het deur vir die mense van die land te wys wat die gevolge van 'n vrotsige regering is. En na net meer as 28 jaar is Suid-Afrikaners skynbaar nou al so vuisvoos en moeg baklei, dat al hoe minder mense nou nog lus het vir sukkel en swaarkry. Vir al hoe meer betaal vir al hoe minder, vir elektrisiteit wat net al hoe meer kos en al hoe minder skop het. Vir brandstof wat elke maand net duurder en duurder word, vir politici wat meer en meer steel en die krummels vir gewone mense wat net al hoe minder word. Dalk moet die EFF dit nou maar oorweeg om 'n totaal teenoorgestelde strategie as dié van die afgelope dekade te volg, naamlik die pad van harde werk, skouer-aan-die-wiel, die bul-by-die-horings en effektiwiteit. Dink net - die oorpakke en harde hoede kan dalk baie handig te pas

People have had enough of anarchy, poor governance

As things have turned out, not too much came of the Red Party's warnings if not threats that it would bring the country to a standstill on Monday this week and that it was speaking on behalf of more and more people in the country. Therefore of course, it had the right to decide when and how this will be achieved, for how long this will last and which form it will assume - even though it is the umpteenth standstill day that the EFF has demanded. And all of this because the party has had its fill of load shedding and because it wants to see the resignation of Cyril Ramaphosa. Well, make no mistake, there was a time in South Africa not too long ago that quite a lot of people in the country considered the EFF to be an excellent solution to most of the pressing challenges in the country. To such an extent that significant numbers of these people were prepared to face rubber bullets, shambok lashings and even a night or two in the cells in order to succeed in their goals. But no, it seems that this did not last for very long. Perhaps it was the party's rather mediocre performance at the polls during the last few elections that has convinced the masses that it was not all that easy, that smash and grab and radicalism alone wouldn't necessarily do the trick. Could it be that even from within the ranks of thousands (millions would probably be close to the truth) of people whose lack of proper judgment had let them down during previous elections by voting for a party who were quite clearly not up to the task of governing the country in a proper and responsible way, it has finally dawned that the country simply cannot afford an even worse, a less responsible and more radical government. Can you imagine that the ANC were so clever, knowingly or unknowingly, that it got the better of its challengers at the poll by demonstrating to them the effects of dismal governance? To such an extent that after more than 20 years, people have had their fill of struggling and suffering. Of paying more for less, of the shocking cost of electricity, of rising fuel costs, of politicians stealing more and more, of smaller and fewer crumbs on our tables while the rich and greedy walked away with the spoils. Perhaps the EFF should consider exactly the opposite of its strategies than those of the past eight to 10 years - one of hard work, hands-on labour, enthusiasm, bull-by-thehorns, shoulder-to-the-wheel and above all efficiency. Yes, perhaps even the overalls and hard hats could stand them in good stead?

Viewpoint by Waldie Volschenk, 13 Coetzer Street, Rustenburg.

About four years ago there were two other Bikers churches established in Rustenburg and they knew they had to move on. God lead them away from the bikers, even though their hearts were with them and always will be. They moved into serving the community with emotional healing etc. They changed the ministry name from Church 4 Bikers, to Harvest time Fellowship/Oestyd Gemeenskap and had no venue due to circumstances. They found a venue at Kroondal Meule. Kroondal Meule is now a Takeaway/Coffee shop and also caters for functions, it is run by David, Ockert and Krappie. They thank them for the use of the venue every Sunday at 09:00. Everyone is welcome to join them, services are mostly in Afrikaans, but they are bilingual as well. They thank the Lord and Saviour for His guidance and support for all these years and thank Him for all the souls they have touched in 14 years. For more information please contact Pastor Sakkie at 073 305 5038 or Desiree at 073 353 5038.
