Cash-In-Transit robbers apprehended hours after robbery

BONUS- RUSTENBURG- 12 suspects were arrested in Rustenburg on Wednesday (26 February) after they were linked to a Cash-In-Transit robbery that took place in Zinniaville on the same day.

During the arrest the police managed to recover four firearms and ammunition, cash as well as six suspected stolen vehicles.

According to information received from Colonel Brenda Muridili, it was reported that at about 09:15, three security guards were allegedly robbed of the money they had just collected from a supermarket at Zinniaville Shopping Complex on the Belflower Road. Shots were fired during the robbery but no injuries were reported.

The suspects then fled the scene in two vehicles, a Mercedes Benz and a Toyota Etios.

The province immediately implemented a 72-Hour-Activation plan which saw all the necessary resources implemented timeously.

“The suspects were traced to a house in Bokamoso area in Rustenburg where eight men and a woman were arrested at the scene,” Mudidili said.

Three illegal firearms and ammunition, four suspected stolen vehicles as well as cash that was robbed were recovered during the arrest.

Some of the team members moved to the next location in Rustenburg North, where they arrested three men and confiscated an illegal rifle and ammunition as well as two suspected stolen motor vehicles.

Firearm recovered.

BONUS- AL MOUJ - Former Rustenburg golfer Brandon Stone narrowly missed out on another European Tour win when he was beaten in the playoff by the Finn

Sami Valimaki who ironically was outside the top 100 after day one at Al Mouj Golf. A stunning 64 in round three put Valimaki alongside Stone in a six way tie for the lead with 18 holes to play. In difficult, breezy conditions by the coast, both Stone and Valimaki had held the lead on their own during the final day but it was Frenchman Adrien Saddier who set the clubhouse target at 12 under.

Stone celebrated wildly as he holed a 20 footer on the last to get to 13 under but there was more drama to come as Valimaki holed from similar range for his own closing gain and a round of 70 to take the contest to extra holes. The duo halved the 18th in pars twice but when Stone sent his second shot crashing into the stand on the third trip and failed to get up and down, a par was enough to hand Valimaki victory.

Valimaki had a stunning 2019 on the Pro Golf Tour, winning four times including three consecutive starts at the end of the season.

Stone finished sixth at the Challenge Tour Grand Final at Al Mouj Golf in 2015 en route to graduating onto the European Tour and last season at this event he finished in the top 35 despite firing an 80 on Saturday. He finished 103rd on last season's Race to Dubai Rankings Presented by Rolex as he had his first full European Tour season without a win but he is pleased with the work he has been doing despite missing out in Muscat. 'Obviously I'm a little disappointed but I'm really proud with how I played over the last four days,' he said. 'It feels like I'm closer again.'

Blitzboks are LA Comeback Kings

BONUS - LOS ANGELES - Just after 05:00 on Monday (2 March) the Blitzboks achieved the seemingly impossible.

The South Africans fought back from 19-0 down to beat Fiji 29-24 in extra time. In an incredible contest between two of sevens rugby's powerhouses, Fiji looked set to be cruising to victory after scoring three first-half tries to race to a 19-point lead.

However, as they have demonstrated so often in the past, Neil Powell's side just does not know when it is beaten and kept fighting to stay in the contest. Blitzboks captain Stedman Gans pulled a try back for his team just before half time. Selvyn Davids then had the chance to make it a five-point game when he scored shortly into the second half. However, he missed the conversion and South Africa had it all to do when Fiji veteran Jerry Tuwai reached over to extend their lead to make it a 12-point game with three minutes to go.

Powell decided to turn to his veterans as he brought on Chris Dry off the bench and the forward made an immediate impact as he powered over the line. Branco du Preez then came on, replacing Davids after he missed the conversion to Dry's try.

The Blitzboks won possession back from the kick-off and, after Fiji lost a player to a yellow card, Du Preez scored after the hooter to give himself a chance of taking the game into extra time. Despite the fact that the try was wide of the posts, he showed all of his experience to nail the conversion and make it 24-24. It was then two Blitzbok youngsters combined their skills to win the game for South Africa.

Kurt-Lee Arendse carried the ball forward before offloading to 21-year-old Sako Makata, who shrugged off the attentions of a Fiji attacker to score. South Africa, who stunned New Zealand 17-0 in the semi-finals, now trail the Kiwis by just four points on the overall World Sevens Series table.
