Why aerial fibre?

Aerial fibre allows for a faster build time, therefore services will be available sooner. Aerial installations carry less risk of damaging municipal services. Alows for quicker repair times, creating consistent service.

> How does Evotel get the community involved?

Evotel has employed over 174 local labourers and contractors when deploying our fibre rollout. Evotel will be giving free fibre to each school that falls within our fibre build.

Won't aerial fibre affect the suburbs aesthetic?

Evotel aims to use as much of the exisiting infrastructure as possible. Extra poles are only planted to supplement where needed and are as close to the trees where possible, to further blend in.

Will Evotel cut down the trees in your suburb to string fibre?

No.

Won't the fibre rollout increase cable theft?

Our fibre cables contain no copper or metals. Due to the materials used to construct the fibre, it holds no steet resale value. Therefore reducing the risk of cable theft.

> Who pays to have Evotel fibre built in their area?

Evotel is a private company investing its own money on the risk that service is taken up by the community.

CORONAVIRUS DISEASE (COVID-19)

Facts and fallacies

NO INFECTIONS REPORTED IN NORTH WEST

> BONUS - RUSTENBURG - With the first cases of a Corona virus infection confirmed in South Africa, many people are very worried.

stories about infections the country also contributing to the fear. There also stories doing the rounds locally about infections here. Some of these even alleges that a child has died as a result of the Corona virus here in Rustenburg. This is not true. No infections have been reported in the whole of the Northwest Province and nobody has died as a result of the Corona virus (Covid-19) in South Africa yet.

Health professionals have urged the community to stay calm, and not get carried away by rumours.

The following eight simple, powerful habits, provide protection against corona viruses, flu viruses and many other pathogens that are common in South Africa and abroad.

- Wash your hands often, especially after direct contact with people who are ill, or after being in environments where sick people are cared for, like hospitals. Remember to wash your hands with soap and water for at least 20 seconds - even if they are not visibly
- Avoid close contact with people who have acute respiratory tract infections
- Avoid touching the eyes, nose, and mouth with unwashed hands
- Practice cough etiquette when you cough, maintain your distance from others. Cover your mouth and nose with clothing, or with a flexed elbow or a tissue (discard it immediately) and wash your hands immediately afterwards
- Avoid spitting in public

- Clean and disinfect frequently-touched objects and surfaces
- Avoid eating raw or undercooked animal products. Handle raw meat, milk or animal organs with care to avoid cross-contamination with other uncooked foods. Use different cutting boards and knives for raw meat and other foods. Wash your hands between handling raw food - especially meat - and any other
- Do not eat the meat that comes from animals that have died of diseases
- You will need to be tested for the Novel Corona virus if you have:
- a Severe acute respiratory illness, with fever or history of fever and cough with pneumonia
- or Acute Respiratory Distress Syndrome (based on clinical/X-ray findings) that requires you to be admitted to hospital

AND ANY OF THE FOLLOWING:

- Have a documented travel history to Wuhan, Hubei Province China within 14 days before symptom onset;
- Have had close physical contact with a person confirmed to have COVID-19 while he/she is symptomatic
- Are a healthcare worker who was exposed to patients with severe acute respiratory infections (in the BUG OUT PEST CONTROL absence of any other reason for your symptoms)

It's important to avoid travel if you have a fever and cough. If you become sick while travelling on an airplane or using public transport, inform the personnel and seek medical care early. When you seek medical attention remember to share your travel history with your healthcare provider

Fibre roll out halted by High Court interdict

Waldie Volschenk

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - After weeks op complaints. hence and forth accusations and public uproar, the roll out of fibre in Rustenburg has been officially halted by means of a Court Interdict in the Mahikeng High Court last Thursday.

This step followed in the wake of public meetings held by the contractor (Evotel) at different venues in Rustenburg in recent weeks during which consumers made little secret of their feelings on the project.

Residents are up in arms about certain aspects surrounding the fibre roll out - notably the installation method which is now clearly understood as unsightly overhead installation by means of conventional tar poles in just about every Rustenburg extension and neighbourhood. Rustenburg Herald/Bonus spoke to a Councillor at the forefront at the centre of the latest outcry against fibre who told us that in terms of the law, the continuation of the fibre project by any contractor or sub-contractor has been officially halted and thus illegal. Residents have been requested to report activities with regard to the planting of tar poles specifically, to their nearest Ward Councillors.

Be safe, not sorry

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The past weekend saw the celebration of International Women's Day.

In South Africa most victims of crime are female - of all ages. The police here in Rustenburg have asked women to please take their own safety very seriously. "Women are visiting pubs and clubs at night and then, when they leave in the early hours of the morning, they are easy pickings for criminals,"said capt Elsabé Augoustides, police spokesperson in the city. She added that what is even more of a concern, is that some of these women are mothers of young children. When these mothers go out on the town, the children are left unsupervised at home. "Supervision does not mean a 14-year-old brother or sister; supervision is an capable adult that can ensure that the child is safe and taken care of," Augoustides said.

In the light of recent child murders in the Western Cape, Augoustides also said that parents must make sure that their children are never left with people you do not trust 100%. "Not even family is absolutely trustworthy. If they have a criminal past of any kind, you must consider them as unsafe," she said.

Brother murdered in Tlhabane while visiting

BONUS - TLHABANE WEST - The police in Tlhabane were called to the scene in Tlhabane West where they found a man murdered and his vehicle robbed on Friday evening (6 March) at around 23:30.

According to information received from the Rustenburg Cluster Police spokesperson, Captain Elsabé Augoustides, the man and his brother were relaxing next to their house when four suspects approached them, one of them produced a firearm and shot and killed the older brother, Clive Stain. The younger brother, Abel Stain who's age is unknown ran into the house and called for help. When the police arrived Clive was declared dead on the scene. The suspects then drove off with his White Toyota Hilux Bakkie which was later found abandoned in Boitekong Extension 4. A case of murder and robbery is being investigated by the police in Tlhabane and so far no arrests have been made.

Beware of online dealers

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The police are urging residents who are considering purchasing vehicles from online dealers to double check the dealers and to be extra vigilant when depositing money to these dealers as some of them are scams.

In the latest incident that occurred in Phokeng, Masosobane, a lady saw a pamphlet advertising a Toyota Quantum. She got in contact with the dealer on Whatsapp and telephonically.

She was told that if she was interested in purchasing the vehicle she must deposit half of the amount, if she wants the vehicle to be delivered to her, she must settle the amount in a few days, which she did.

After she deposited the rest of the money, the dealers contact number went offline and it was not working

She realised that she was caught in a scam and she opened a case with the

Protesters on the rampage

Police in Mogwase are investigating a case of arson after a building in the Industrial Site (Golden Factory) burned down on Friday night (6 March). The fire was allegedly started by protesters who were on a protected strike at the factory. A bus was also allegedly stopped and thrown with bottles by the protesters and the driver ran away from the scene. According to Provincial Police Spokesperson, no arrests have yet been made and the police are investigating a case or arson.

Robber and rapist sentenced

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The Rustenburg CBD is now a much better place after the Rustenburg Regional Magistrates Court sentenced a man who has been terrorising business people working at the taxi rank as well as commuters.

Big Boy "Biggie" Molefe was sentenced to 30 years imprisonment on Tuesday (3 March) for robbery with aggravating circumstances, robbery and rape. According to information received from Rustenburg Cluster Police Spokesperson, Sergeant Ofentse Mokgadi, on Sunday (12 August 2018) a lady was walking along Bethlehem Street in the CBD in the early hours of the morning. The court was told that Molefe approached her, forced her to walk with him. He forcefully took her phone and took her to a secluded place and raped her. Witnesses who were terrified of Molefe helped the lady after the incident and assisted her to identify Molefe to the police. Read this week's edition of the Rustenburg Herald for more information on this story.

Mayoral committee

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The Rustenburg Local Council has effected changes to the members of the Mayoral Committee.

This announcement was made on Friday (6 March). The changes to the committee were with immediate effect. For more on this story, see this week's edition of the Rustenburg Herald.

Warning to men about robbers

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The police in Rustenburg would like to send a warning to men to be careful of women who are out to rob them of their household belongings, especially those men who go to nightclubs, taverns and pubs.

This warning comes after a man in Phokeng was approached by two ladies at a pub who told him they are not familiar with the area and they would like a place to stay for the night. The man offered them a lift to his house. When he woke up the next day, he noticed that some of his house items were stolen including his vehicle. "We would like to urge men to be extra careful and refrain from picking up strangers at nightclubs," said Sergeant Ofentse Mokgadi, police spokesperson in Rustenburg.

Northwest are looking for a 30-year-old male who can assist them with a number of cases being investigated. The man is wanted for questioning by the police with regards to of allegations of Attempted Murder, Assault with the intention of doing Grievous Bodily Harm (GBH), Car Hijacking and Kidnapping. The incidents happened during 8 September 2019 and 26 January 2020 at Lokaleng Village, Taung. The investigating officer in this case is DWO MI Tshipo of the Taung Detective Service. He can be contacted on 053-994

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Entries are officially open for the 2020 Heineken® 0.0 IMPI Challenge that will take place at Coetzenburg (Stellenbosch/Western Cape) on 23 May, Van Gaalen Kaasmakerij (North West Province) on 31 October and the Purple Windmill (Stellenbosch) on 28 November!

We cannot wait to get the 2020 Heineken® 0.0 IMPI Challenge season underway," says Pieter du Plessis, Heineken® 0.0 IMPI Challenge Race Director. "We are proud to have Heineken® 0.0 as our new title sponsor. After an action-packed day out on the course, entrants can enjoy a much-deserved ice-cold Heineken® 0.0 once they've crossed the finish line. Enjoy the taste, with zero the guilt as Heineken® 0.0 has less calories and zero alcohol."

"The event gives friends and colleagues the ideal opportunity to enjoy spending time together outdoors away from the temptation of technology," continues du Plessis. "Each event is hosted at a venue that boasts amazing trails with spectacular views. Obstacles are designed to be challenging but are at the same time doable and most importantly fun. Once you've crossed the finish line stick around, enjoy a meal and catch up with colleagues and friends or make new friends. Once you've experienced the Heineken® 0.0 IMPI Challenge vibe, you'll be left wanting more." Saturday 23 May 2020: IMPI Challenge #1 in Coetzenburg, Stellenbosch, Saturday 31 October 2020: IMPI Challenge #2 at Van Gaalen Kaasmakerij and Saturday 28 November 2020: IMPI Challenge #3 at The Purple Windmill. There are four categories to choose from when entering the Heineken® 0.0 IMPI Challenge: IMPI Corporate: 10km with 18 obstacles and extra benefits - R800; IMPI Challenge: 10km with 18 obstacles - R400; IMPI Dash: 5km with 12 obstacles - R300; IMPI Mini: 1km with 8 small, supervised obstacles (age 6-10) - R100.
