Crime pays

In many cities and towns across South Africa criminals have been taking to the streets, looting and burning shops, under the ruse of protest. KwaZulu Natal, Gauteng and Mpumalanga have been hardest hit. On Monday (July 12) it was reported that the South African Defence Force was deployed in hotspots in Gauteng and KZN to curb the violence and looting. According to a spokesperson for the Defence Force, the objective of the soldiers will be to provide safety and a safe working environment for other law enforcement agencies.

Voter registration weekend postponed

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The independent Electoral Commission last week announced it has postponed the voter registration weekend by two weeks in light of the third wave of the Covid-19 pandemic currently affecting the country.

The commission resolved to reschedule the voter registration weekend from 17-18 July to the weekend of July 31 to August 1.

"The two-week postponement will have a knock-on effect on certain dates and activities associated with the proclamation and election including delaying proclamation by four days until August 6.

However, the commission remains confident that successful elections can be held within a reduced election timetable of 82 days rather than the original 86 days," the Electoral Commission said.

ADJUSTED LEVEL 4: Here are the details

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - South Africa will remain on the adjusted Level 4 lockdown for the next two weeks.

But, don't get your hopes up - alcohol is still off the cards.

The restrictions will now remain in place until 25 July.

In his national address on Sunday (11 July), Ramaphosa said that there is no other option than to extend the lockdown in the hopes of curbing the spread of the devastating Delta variant of the Corona virus.

At present, the country has over 200,000 active Covid-19 cases. In the last two weeks over 4,200 South Africans have lost their lives to Covid-19.

"Our health system countrywide remains under pressure. By next week, daily hospital admissions across the country are likely to reach the levels observed during the peak of the first two waves. Covid-19 related deaths in hospitals are also increasing, and have surpassed those observed at the peak of the first wave," the president said.

While Gauteng is still the epicentre of these infections, Ramaphosa said that cases are now surging in other provinces with the healthcare sector increasingly under strain. Infections are rapidly increasing in the Western Cape, Limpopo, North West, KwaZulu-Natal and Mpumalanga, he said.

The following restrictions will remain in place:

* The evening curfew remains in place from 21h00 – 04h00, and only those with permission to do so may leave their homes during this time;

* All social, religious, and political gatherings remain prohibited;

* Schools will remain closed until 26 July;

* The sale of alcohol remains prohibited. However, Ramaphosa said that some restrictions will be eased for some businesses. These include:

* Restaurants and eateries will be able to operate as normal while observing strict protocols – Such establishments may not accommodate more than 50 people at a time or, for smaller venues, more than 50% of their normal capacity;

* Certain other venues such as gyms and fitness centres may also reopen;

* Agricultural activities such as livestock auctions will be permitted.

The president said that Cabinet has decided that all business licenses and permits that expired between March 2020 and June 2021 will remain valid until 31 December 2022.

South Africa reported 16,302 new cases on Sunday, taking the total number of active reported cases to 208,709.

Up to 53,653 tests were conducted in the last 24 hours which represents a 30.4% positivity rate. A further 151 Covid-19 related deaths have been reported, taking total fatalities to 64,289 to date.

35 to 49-year-olds to be vaccinated in August

TERS extended

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - President Cyril Ramaphosa announced a bit of financial relief for affected sectors during his national address Sunday night (11 July).

The President said that the Unemployment Insurance Fund will extend the Covid-19 TERS scheme to businesses that have been impacted by the adjusted level 4 lockdown. The full details of the businesses and sectors that qualify will be published in a gazette shortly, Ramaphosa said. The president said that all business permits and licenses will also remain valid until 31 December 2022.

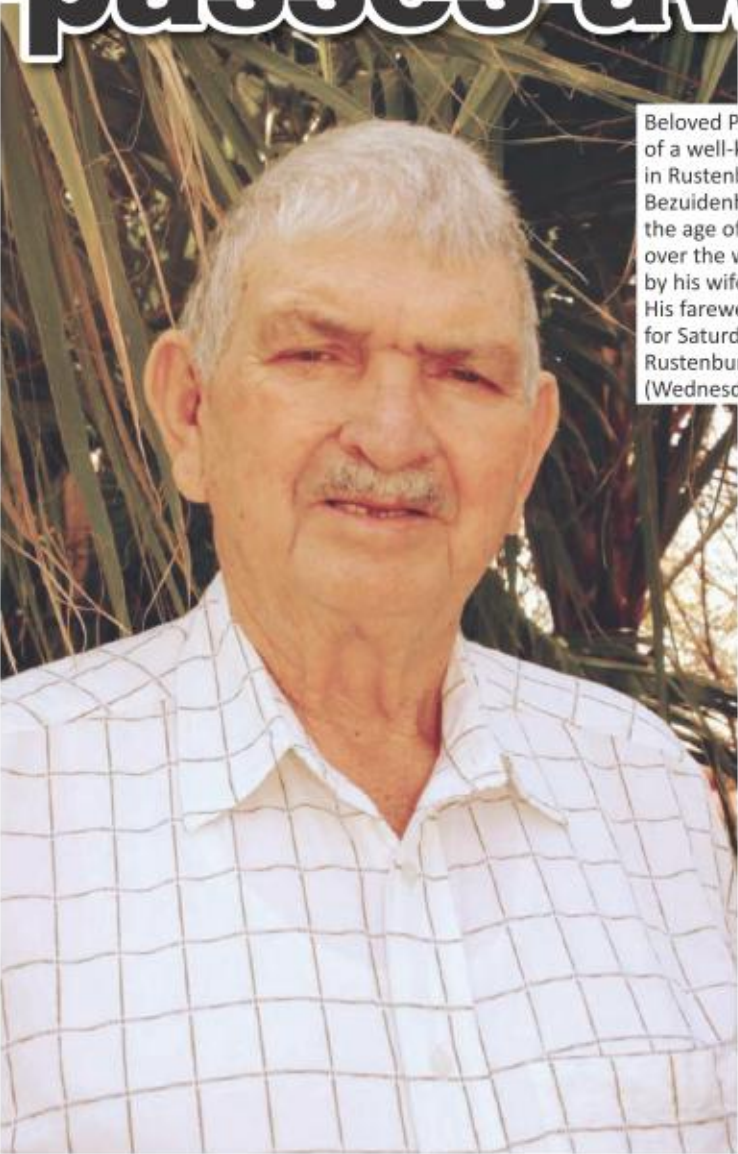

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The vaccination programme is expected to gain momentum when those who are between the ages of 35 and 49 get vaccinated on August 1.

According to information registrations for these age groups will start on July 15 while government will begin inoculating this group on Sunday, August 1.

Healthcare workers were the first to be vaccinated in March under the Johnson & Johnson Sisonke programme. A month later, government began administering vaccines to those over 60 years.

Two weeks ago, over 500 000 basic education workers began receiving their doses. Recently the programme focused on those aged 50 and above.

Beloved elder passes away

Beloved Piet Bezuidenhout, father of a well-known former Reverend in Rustenburg, “ds” Johan Bezuidenhout, passed away at the age of 84 years in Rustenburg over the weekend. He is survived by his wife Attie and four children. His farewell service is scheduled for Saturday, 17 July at 11:00. See Rustenburg Herald of this week (Wednesday) for the latest details.
