Winter is in full swing and after an ice-cold, rainy spell of almost 10 days, Rustenburg's outdoor and sun-loving enthusiasts have been looking forward to once again enjoying the light in our lives. A change of scenery always encourages people to venture outdoors to see what everyone else has been up to and to embrace life in all its splendour. Pictured here are sisters Nicole and Chemoné Kotze (Globemodellook) of Rustenburg. This delightful photograph was supplied by "Ligkuns Fotografie".

IT'S OVER Valuation Roll a cut and dried matter

RUSTENBURG BONUS - RUSTENBURG - For Rustenburg Property owners the issue of Rustenburg's controversial Valuation Roll of the past year if not longer, is a cut and dried matter.

By noon on Tuesday, 15 June, the cut-off for objections to the municipality's ongoing Valuation Roll saga, will have expired. This means that Rustenburg property owners who have not managed to object to their new valuations in time for the deadline will have to be at peace with what is anticipated to be inflated assessment rates on their monthly Municipal accounts and that a hearing at the North West Board of Appeal might be their only and final recourse to keep on fighting the issue, albeit at substantial legal expenses and fees.

With the cut-off date on 15 June, the Rustenburg Municipality's 2021/22 Valuation Roll will officially take full effect in terms of (Section 49) of Municipal Finance Property Rates Act. Rustenburg Herald will resume reporting on the issue after final approval of the Rustenburg Municipal Budget of 2021/22.

Zinniaville, Karlienpark burn over service delivery

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Disgruntled residents of Zinniaville and Karlienpark took to the streets on Saturday afternoon (June 12) to protest about service delivery issues in their area.

Amongst their grievances, the residents protested over water supply interruptions as well as prolonged power cuts that occur without any warning. They barricaded Molen Street between Zinniaville and Rustenburg North with burning tires and rocks. Despite the protest, it was reported that no official from the Rustenburg Local Municipality was present to hear the residents' grievances.

The Police were dispatched to the scene to keep law and order. Read this week's Rustenburg Herald for more on this story.

VACCINE ROLLOUT:

Pension pay points to be used for registering senior citizens

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - People across the country are pulling out all the stops to help register pensioners for the COVID-19 vaccine, and now pension payout points where thousands queue for their monthly grant, are being targeted.

Volunteers from all walks of life are now pullulating Post Offices, Boxer Superstores and South African Social Security Agency (SASSA) pay points to ensure no pensioner is left behind. The mission is to get as many over 60s as possible, to sign up for the lifesaving jab, under the second phase of the country's vaccination rollout programme, that is currently underway. The Department of Health's Director-General, Dr Sandile Buthelezi, expressed his disappointment that the country was not even close to reaching 50% of the 5.5 million people who are over 60.

Meanwhile, Boxer has started distributing 250 000 flyers that will be handed out in their stores to promote the vaccination rollout.

Two teens die in Beyers Naudé crash

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Two teenagers were fatally injured in a three-car-crash on Friday night (June 11).

Five other people were seriously injured. According to Capt Elsabé Augoustides, local police spokesperson, four teenagers were travelling in a BMW in Beyers Naudé Avenue at about 22:00.

It seems the driver of the BMW, Kosie Strydom (19) lost control and it spun. Another vehicle, a Hyundai I20 crashed into the BMW and the BMW crashed into a stationary Toyota Yaris.

Strydom and Vian van Dyk (18) died as a result of the crash and Strydom's girlfriend, Chanté Steyn (19) and his brother Champie (17) sustained serious injuries. According to Capt Augoustides Champie was air lifted to a Road Accident Fund hospital in Benoni. Chanté was admitted to a local hospital with various injuries.

The occupants of the Hyundai, PZ Myeni (31), Nkosi Myeni (24) and a man whose identity is not yet known, also all sustained serious injuries and were admitted to hospitals.

The circumstances surrounding the accident are still being investigated. Two cases of culpable homicide have been opened.

Motorists urged to use Post Office for licence disc

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The service of renewal of motor vehicle licences around the North West Province has now been extended to include the South African Post Offices (SAPO).

This was announced by the North West MEC for Community Safety and Transport Management Sello Lehari while presenting the department's budget vote recently.

To make this possible, the department has since signed the service level agreement (SLA) with South African Post Office. And as a result, to date there are 18 SAPO sites actively rendering the license disc renewal services across the province.

The MEC further announced that the department has started the renovation of Mogwase registering authority.

The completion of the renovations will ensure optimum operation of the centres as well as enhance efficient revenue collection for the department.

Saamstaan Community Safety Festival

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The Saamstaan Community Safety Festival will be taking place on Saturday 31 July 2021 at Cheers & Beers, corner of Buffelspoort and Rex Road, Kroondal.

"The Saamstaan Community Safety Festival's goal is to financially assist our community security groups such as neighborhood watches, farm patrol and GPF groups as well as provide equipment and training. These community security groups are our own people who take it upon themselves to resist the overwhelming crime in our wards. Young people, old people, men, women, all dare the cold, the late nights and danger, day after day, night after night with little or no support. The Saamstaan Fees is your opportunity to do just what the festival says, to stand together and make a difference with what affects us all, what we all talk about, are worried about and have no answer for, crime on our doorstep".

The festival also serves to get some of these security groups together in one day under the banner of Standing Together and exchanging ideas, shrugging shoulders with speakers specializing in the field of security, specialist units that will perform shows and exhibitions with the latest security equipment. It will be a festive day with artists performing, performances to be held, exhibitions, all kinds of stalls, delicious food and a cash bar. For the kids there will be a playground, bouncy castle, face painting, horseback riding and many more.

The Saamstaan Festival will become an annual institution in our area from Rustenburg to Mooiooi and further expand to other towns and cities in the future. The Saamstaan Festival organizers and supporters will also constantly assist the security groups throughout the year where help is needed".

Tickets are available at quicket.co.za (Saamstaan Fees, Kroondal, Rustenburg). For more information and tickets go to <https://qkt.io/34Bbv8> or facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/Saamstaan-Fees-105879851677964/>.

Competitive field aims for victory and valuable points at new TGRSA 1000 Desert Race in Upington

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The all-new Toyota Gazoo Racing SA 1000 Desert Race, the third round of the South African National Cross Country Series (SACCS) that takes place over three days and almost a thousand kilometres on 18, 19 and 20 June in the Upington area, has drawn an extremely competitive field in the Production Vehicle Category and the most teams the series has seen this season will make their way to the Northern Cape Province where they will go for gold and hope to bag a healthy amount of points towards their championships.

This event traditionally runs in Botswana and the only marathon event on the calendar has been relocated to Upington this year due to the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic and the logistics of cross border travel. This offers teams a new opportunity to test their equipment and themselves over three days and almost a thousand kilometres of harsh conditions and uncharted terrain and a level playing field for all. The TGRSA 1000 Desert Race will also include the Road to Dakar Challenge offering privateer crews who enter the opportunity to win a free entry to the Dakar Rally. This year the winning team will also receive a cash prize of 8 000 euros to assist as with the necessary funding to compete in the world's toughest automotive race in either 2022 or 2023.

Combining statistics of the annual marathon event held in Botswana for the past two decades and the fact that two different teams have claimed victory so far this season, makes predicting a winner quite risky. With the desert race this year sponsored by Toyota Gazoo Racing SA, the team would like nothing better than to be the first winners of their inaugural event. The team will also feature the new petrol-powered 3.5 litre turbo charged V6 engine in a new generation Toyota Hilux racing chassis - it is yet uncertain who will be behind the wheel of this vehicle.

If the TGRSA 1000 Desert Race victory befell either the defending champions, Henk Lategan/ Brett Cummings or the former double desert race winners, Giniel de Villiers and navigator Dennis Murphy, it will be a better result than their 2019 TDR 1000 result when both teams experienced problems in Botswana. Lategan will also be hoping to make up for lost points as he did not compete in the season opener. The TGRSA 1000 Desert Race starts on Friday, 18 June with the Pirelli Qualifying Race of approximately 130 kilometres that includes a mini dune section. The results will determine the starting order for Saturday when teams will take on a 200 kilometre loop at 08:00. Upon completing the loop once, there will be a mandatory 30-minute service stop before they tackle the loop again. The combined results of Friday and Saturday will determine the starting order for the final day with a new 200km loop awaiting teams. This loop will again include a mini dune section, dry riverbeds and hard-pack and a compulsory 30-minute de-control before they do the loop again. All the racing action will start and finish at the Upington Expo Showgrounds where the headquarters and Designated Service Park (DSP) will be situated. No spectators will be allowed at the showgrounds as per the current Covid-19 regulations. Enthusiasts can follow the action on the RallySafe App on iOS and Android devices as well as on Telegram and social media.
