Celebrate your Happy Place

Gardeners are the happiest people of all. Gardening reconnects us to nature and awakens our senses. It gives us feelings of peace and wellness and is proven to have positive effects on our health, both mentally and physically. This coming Sunday (17 October) we will celebrate Garden Day. So, head outdoors, wear a flower crown and get your hands into the soil – it's good for you! With a garden the likes of the one above, Mr Charlie Graham of Geelhout Gardens Nursery has little to worry about and will be able to sit back and enjoy National Garden Day.

 ECD Census 2021
because children count

Calling all ECD programmes to register for the ECD Census 2021

The Department of Basic Education (DBE) is conducting a nationwide census to collect data on all registered and non-registered Early Childhood Development programmes.

The information gathered during the ECD Census will highlight opportunities to increase access to quality play based learning for every South African child and help expand education support programmes. It will also be used to integrate information on ECD into the department's Education Management Information System (EMIS). Fieldworkers from the iKapadata survey company will make an appointment to visit each ECD programme to conduct interviews with the principal or owner and record observations. These visits will take less than an hour of your time.

Play your part in helping all children in South Africa access a brighter future, because children count.

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Five victories after the first five rounds of the 2021 South African National Cross Country Series (SACCS) and the Special Vehicle Championship is in the bag for Lance Trethewey and Adriaan Roets (King Price Xtreme BAT) who also won the championship in 2019.

The team were victorious after both round four and five of the recent 4x4 Mega World 400 at Nampo Park outside Bothaville in the Free State and adding the points earned to their tally of the first three events, they have opened up a big enough gap to have secured the overall Special Vehicle Championship as well as the Class A championship with the final two rounds of the season still remaining.

Consistency is the name of the game in the SACCS Special Vehicle Championship and it has paid off for Trethewey/Roets who are one of only four teams to have competed in each round of the 2021 season so far. The team has accumulated 165 points in the overall standings with the current overall runners-up, Cecil and Elardus Larney, on 72 points. The Larney brothers have persevered in their first season competing in the Ride Fox Africa Can-Am Maverick in Class G and have also tackled each of the five rounds and scored points, no matter what was thrown at them.

Boela Botes/Jay Pretorius (King Price Xtreme Porter) have also been in action at all five rounds and finished as the runners-up in the Free State on both days. They are fourth on the overall standings (56 points), a mere four points behind Gibson/Smith with 16 points separating them from the Larney brothers. With a 16 point blanket covering the teams in the second, third and fourth places, the battle for the final overall podium positions will continue until the final chequered flag is being waved.

The sixth and penultimate round of the season, the Vryburg 400, will take place on 29 and 30 October in North West province and teams can look forward to an enjoyable desert-like event.
