You're never too young to braai

T-bones, ribs, rump, chicken 'flatties', or marshmallows – we braai them all! Heritage Day in South Africa also means Braai Day, and thus on Friday (24 September) fires were sizzling all over the country. And you can never be too young to start honing your braai skills! Our two beginners trying their hands at their very own first braai – under the watchful eyes of moms, dads and grandparents – are Bejandri Krugell and Lehandro Reyneke. (Photo: Junita Lategan)

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - A fire broke out at the Rustenburg traffic offices on Tuesday evening (21 September) and destroyed five vehicles that have been impounded by public safety.

According to Thapelo Matebesi, Rustenburg Local Municipality's spokesperson, the cause of the fire is still unknown at this stage. "A fire broke out just about 18:00, at the Rustenburg Local Municipality's Public Safety offices, otherwise known as Traffic Offices. Five, old, impounded vehicles due for auction, were burnt in the process. However, the municipality's fire and emergency services department managed to extinguish it after 45 minutes before it could spread further," said Matebesi. The entire administration block was not affected, as the fire started and was confined to the pound section of the facility. He said the cause of the fire was still unknown however a case of arson has been registered with the police who are currently busy with investigations.

YOU can stop the 4th wave

Bonus - Rustenburg - As of 9 September 2021, the North West province had a total of 146 060 confirmed Covid-19 positive cases, of which almost half - 66 018 - were from the Bojanala Platinum district.

The Rustenburg municipality has had 41 758 confirmed cases and it accounts for two thirds of the district case load. These numbers do not seem very high or significant compared to those seen in Gauteng and the Western Cape, but in a province which is largely rural and has a fragmented and disproportionate health care system, the Covid-19 pandemic has laid a huge burden on an ailing health care system, the economy and the community at large.

Dr Kagiso Motse, Specialist Physician and Nephrologist, Head of Internal Medicine, Job Shimankana Tabane Hospital

One of the challenges in treating Covid-19 is that despite the lessons which have been learned and the advances in treatment strategies over the last 18 months, the disease course is still variable and unpredictable. Known risk factors for severe disease include advanced age, diabetes, obesity, hypertension, heart disease, kidney disease and pregnancy. But as the months have progressed, there have been many instances of young and previously healthy individuals who have become severely ill, many of whom have succumbed to the infection and its related complications. Covid-19 vaccines do not prevent you from being infected with the virus but they are the only proven intervention to reduce severe disease, hospitalisation and death. The vaccines (like all other drugs) do have some side effects, most notably injection site pain, redness and discomfort, flu-like symptoms, headache and fatigue. These symptoms seldom last longer than 1-2 days. There are rare cases of severe adverse effects but no documented deaths due to vaccination. At this point, the risk of dying from a Covid related illness is higher than the risk of dying from the vaccination. The risk of clots is negligible and there is no evidence that they cause infertility. The vaccines are safe and recommended in all stages of pregnancy and can be administered to breastfeeding mothers. The Job Shimankana Hospital vaccination site is open Mondays to Sundays from 7am-7pm. Vaccinate to protect yourself - and save the nation.

Safe entry

The Rose Ward at Rustenburg Medicare is where the brand new humans are welcomed. The staff here is encouraging everyone to get vaccinated to ensure that the future is secure. Remember, it is safe to get vaccinated while you are pregnant - just speak to your doctor or gynaecologist for all the information. Opening South Africa up again: You old the key Bonus - Rustenburg - We are more than 15 months into an event that we thought will last two to three weeks. A number of us have resumed life to some kind of normality, but there are many, many people who not have been able to pick up their lives. We think of people in the hospitality industry, the liquor industry, the entertainment industry and tourism. The reality is: those people not getting back to pre-Covid standards, are having a ripple effect.

The COVID-19 vaccination will help to keep you from getting COVID-19

- All COVID-19 vaccines currently available have been shown to be safe and effective at preventing COVID-19. Based on what we know about vaccines for other diseases and early data from clinical trials, experts believe that getting a COVID-19 vaccine also reduces your risk of serious COVID-19 infection if you do contract COVID-19. Getting vaccinated may also protect your loved ones and those around you, particularly people at increased risk for severe illness from COVID-19.
- Once you are fully vaccinated for COVID-19, you may be able to start doing some of the activities that you stopped doing due to the pandemic. For example, you can spend time with larger groups of friends, family and loved ones who are fully vaccinated.
- COVID-19 vaccination is a safer way to help build protection

COVID-19 can have serious, life-threatening complications, and there is no way to know how COVID-19 will affect you. If you do get sick, you could potentially spread the disease to friends, family, and others around you without knowing.

- COVID-19 vaccination will help to strengthen your immune system and create a protective antibody response without you having to become ill with COVID-19.
- COVID-19 vaccination will be an important tool to help stop the pandemic

Stopping a global pandemic such as the COVID-19 outbreak requires using all the tools we have available. You must continue to practise basic preventive measures, such as wearing a mask, avoiding large gatherings and crowded places, and washing your hands regularly. Play your part by having the COVID-19 vaccination and help our country to reach population immunity to protect your loved ones and those who are vulnerable and at-risk for severe COVID-19 infection.

- COVID-19 vaccines are safe and effective

All COVID-19 vaccines currently available have been shown to be safe and effective at preventing COVID-19. While more COVID-19 vaccines are being developed as quickly as possible, routine processes and procedures remain in place to ensure the safety of any vaccine authorised for use. Safety is a top priority, and there are many reasons to get vaccinated. None of the COVID-19 vaccines can make you sick with COVID-19.

Fuel price could decrease in October '21

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Mid-month data from the Central Energy Fund (CEF) shows that fuel prices could decline in October, bringing welcome relief for motorists.

The data made available by the CEF up to 16 September shows an over-recovery in both petrol and diesel prices, pointing to a possible drop of between 18 and 21 cents per litre for petrol and around 9 cents per litre for diesel. The Automobile Association (AA) however, warns that rising oil prices and a weakening rand could flip this around before month-end.

Fuel price shifts as of 16 September (CEF):

Petrol 95: decrease of 18 cents per litre; Petrol 93: decrease of 21 cents per litre; Diesel 0.05%: decrease of 9 cents per litre; Diesel 0.005%: decrease of 9 cents per litre; Illuminating Paraffin: decrease of 1 cent per litre. The Central Energy Fund (CEF) has stressed that the daily snapshots are not predictive, and do not cover other potential changes like slate levy adjustments or retail margin changes which are determined by the department. The Department of Energy makes adjustments based on a review of the full period. Furthermore, the outlook can change significantly before month-end.

Prices are affected by two main components – the rand/dollar exchange rate and charges to international petroleum product costs, largely driven by oil prices.

At mid-September, a stronger ZAR/USD exchange rate is contributing to an over-recovery of around 22 cents per litre for all fuel types, with changes to international product prices undercutting these gains.

Differences in price and refining costs for petrol and diesel create a divergent path on pricing, with diesel seeing an under-recovery of 12 cents per litre in product price changes, while petrol shows an under-recovery of 2 to 5 cents per litre.

Small, quality field in Special Vehicle Category ready for challenging 4X4 Mega World 400

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - A small, but quality field in the Special Vehicle Category will take on the 4x4 Mega World 400, the fourth and fifth rounds of the South African National Cross Country Series (SACCS) on October 1 and 2 at Nampo Park outside Bothaville in the Free State.

Class A as well as Class G for the smaller and nimble Side-by-Side (SxS) Vehicles in the Special Vehicle Category have been tightly contested so far this season. Although the 2019 overall and Class A champions, Lance Trethewey/Adriaan Roets (King Price Xtreme) have won all three events this year and are leading the standings, they are not safe enough to relax and three different teams walked away with the laurels in the Class G SxS championship.

In Class A it will be Trethewey/Roets against Both Boela Botes/Jay Pretorius (King Price Xtreme Porter) and Lood du Preez/Tiaan Swart (Farmers Meat Stryker) who only scored once this season, but as the names of a few teams who are ahead of them on the points do not appear on the entry list, they might find themselves in the top five if they can keep it together and score good points.

Sandra Labuschagne-Jonck and husband Jaco Jonck have traded their ageing Porter and will be out in the Moto-Netix KEC Racing, former championship winning, BAT Viper and will aim for that elusive race finish with their new machinery. Keith and Andrew Makenete have made a welcome come-back and will compete in Class P with a BAT.

On Friday, 1 October at 07:30 the 4x4 Mega World 400 will start with a short 15km Pirelli Qualifying Race sprint to determine the starting order for the main race that will start at 09:30. Competitors will have to complete a 180km loop towards the east of Nampo Park twice to score points as finishers of the fourth round of the SACCS.

The fifth round on Saturday, 2 October will again start with a short 15km sprint to determine the start grid for the main race. The main race starts at 09:30 and a different loop to the previous day will take teams towards the west of Nampo Park. Sections of the loop might have a familiar look to it as it was used in 2020, but competitors will do it in the opposite direction this year. This 180km loop will also start and finish at Nampo Park and will have to be completed twice.

Due to Covid-19 restrictions, spectators are not allowed at the event. Enthusiasts can however follow the action on the RallySafe App that can be downloaded free of charge for iOS and Android devices. Information will also be shared on the Telegram App as well as on social media.
