Still full steam ahead

Saturday was a “big” day among Rustenburg’s antique engine fraternity when the annual Engine Day was hosted by Human Jordaan of the well-known Paul Kruger Guesthouse on the R24 just outside Rustenburg. Though the turnout was somewhat smaller than usual - at least a dozen if not more of these almost a century old engines were displayed and amazingly, all of these in good running condition. But engines were not the only attraction of the day. Pictured here is Philip Mostert’s 1947 John Deere which was beautifully restored and still running perfectly. This is a twin cylinder machine with side valves. Among the many visitors taken in by the generations old work horse, are Pêr Jordaan, Natasha Kema-Jordaan and Simoné Jordaan. See this week’s edition of Rustenburg Herald for more photographs.

Head-on-collision leaves three dead on the N4

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - On Thursday night (17 February), three people were killed and a man critically injured when two light motor vehicles collided on the N4 between Zeerust and Groot Marico.

According to Russel Meiring, ER24 spokesperson, paramedics arrived to find the two wrecked light motor vehicles on the side of the road.

A man in his 50s was seen lying inside one vehicle while a man and woman were found in the other. Another woman was found lying outside the same car. Medics assessed the patients and found that the two women and a man had already succumbed to their numerous injuries. Nothing could be done for them, and they were declared dead. The man lying in the other vehicle was found with several injuries and was in critical condition. The man was treated and provided with advanced life support interventions before being transported to a nearby hospital for urgent care. The details surrounding this incident are unknown, but local authorities were on the scene for further investigations.

Prediction shows fuel price going up - again

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Mid-month fuel price data is predicting that South African motorists can expect another steep fuel price hike in March.

The data covers the period to 15 February 2022 and shows significant increases for both petrol and diesel drivers, coming on the back of rising international petroleum prices.

Should current market conditions persist and these increases be realised, the hikes would see fuel prices pushed to record highs.

The mid-month changes are as follows:

Petrol 95: increase of R1,26 per litre to R21,40

Petrol 93: increase of R1,25 per litre to R21,14

Diesel 0.05%: increase of R1,32 per litre to R18,45

Diesel 0.005%: increase of R1,34 per litre to R18,51

Illuminating Paraffin: increase R1,26 per litre to R13,23

The Department of Energy has stressed that the daily snapshots are not predictive and do not cover other potential changes like slate levy adjustments or retail margin changes, which is determined by the department at the end of the month, taking all variables into account.

This means that the outlook can change significantly before month-end - to either side.

Big Covid-19 vaccination changes for SA

BONUS - RUSTENBURG

A number of big Covid-19 vaccination changes have been announced for South Africa.

This includes mixing booster shots.

South Africa's health department has issued a circular that dramatically reduces the intervals between vaccines, and allows different vaccines to be mixed for booster shots from 23 February 2022.

The waiting period before you are allowed to receive your booster has also been reduced. Those receiving the Pfizer-BioNTech Cominarty two-dose vaccine now only need to wait 21 days before getting their second shot — down from 42 days.

For the booster shot, the waiting period has been reduced from 180 days to 90 days, and you can receive either the Pfizer or Johnson & Johnson vaccine.

Similarly, those who received the Johnson & Johnson vaccine will now be able to use Pfizer or Johnson & Johnson for their booster shot.

Man killed at holiday resort

BONUS - BUFFELSPPOORT

A short family vacation at a resort outside Rustenburg took a tragic turn when a man was killed by robbers in the chalet he shared with his wife and siblings.

Johannes Nicolaas Brits (68) died after being shot by three unknown intruders who apparently gained entry into the chalet at the Buffelspoort ATKV resort through an open window.

According to information available, one of the holdiday party saw when the three suspects came in through the window at around 01:00 on Thursday and shouted for help.

The robbers attacked her and Brits then tried to intervene. He was shot point blank and died on the scene.

Shortly afterwards the robbers fled into the night, taking only three Nokia cellphones.

Col Adèle Myburgh, North West provincial police liaison officer, said that a case of murder, as well as one of robbery is being investigated. Col Myburgh added that it's not clear at this stage how the suspects entered the resort.

No arrests have been made and people who might have information that can assist the police are requested to contact the investigating officer W/O Job Monnagaratloe op 072 092 2348.

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Even though Filing Season is still a couple of month's away, it is very important to start off on the right foot.

Here are a few pointers from SARS:
Tax Year-End: Closing mileage for vehicles
Individuals with travel allowances should prepare their supporting documents.
Without a logbook, you will not be able to claim the cost of business travel against your travel allowance.
You need to record the opening kilometres on the first day of March and closing kilometres on the last day of February each year. This must be disclosed to verify the total distance travelled in cases where the vehicle has been used for business purposes for only a portion of the total travel.
Apart from recording the opening and closing odometer readings for the year of your travel claim, you should also maintain a record of the actual business kilometres travelled for each trip.

What is a Travel Allowance?
A travel allowance is any allowance paid or an advance given to an employee for the use of a private motor vehicle in respect of travelling expenses for business purposes. Travel allowances can also be a fixed amount given to an employee to finance transport, or it can be used to reimburse expenses used for travel. Please note: travel between home and office does not qualify as business travel.

Reminder for businesses to submit third-party data
It is also that time of the year for businesses and employers to submit their third-party data to SARS.
Medical schemes, financial institutions, attorneys, banks, etc. have an obligation to submit their third-party data to SARS. The following are examples of data to be submitted to SARS and by who:
· IT3(b) submitted by Banks, Financial Institutions, Co-operatives for Amounts that became due or payable or were paid or received in respect of, or by way of any investment, rental of immovable property, interest, or royalty.

· IT3(c) submitted by Banks, Financial Institutions etc. for amounts paid in respect of the purchase and disposal of financial instruments.
· IT3(e) submitted by co-operatives who purchased livestock, produce, timber, ore, mineral or precious stones from a primary producer other than for retail purposes
· IT3(s) submitted by Banks, Co-operatives, Long-term insurers for amounts received by or accrued to a natural person in respect of a tax-free investment
· IT3(f) submitted by all retirement annuity contributions made by the member, for the year of assessment and all medical contributions made by the member for the year of assessment. Included in the record should be all expenses not covered by the medical aid and number of dependants · Dividends Tax: Submitted by South African tax resident companies.

Employers are to submit third party data by the end of May each year via our online channels. Don't forget to activate the online channels under "Enrol 3rd Party Data" on eFiling.
Reminder to Submit Company Income Tax (CIT) Returns by 28 February
Company Income Tax Returns (ITR14) are due on 28 February 2022. In addition to annual Company Income Tax returns (ITR14), companies are required to submit Provisional Tax returns (IRP6) and make payment by 28 February 2022.
These returns are to be submitted every six months after your company year-end and must contain estimated figures of the total income earned for that period and taxes paid over in respect of the income estimates for that period.

Compliance inspection of second-hand dealers yields results

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - In an endeavour to fight the buying and selling of stolen goods, police on Friday (18 February), conducted a multidisciplinary and crime intelligence driven operation at identified Second-Hand Goods Dealer premises in Rustenburg.
The police, working together with the Department of Home Affairs, Telkom and the Independent Communications Authority of South Africa (ICASA), issued fines amounting to R25 000 to business owners. The fines, among others were issued for possession of counterfeit goods and failure to register a business as a dealer in contravention of Section 2 (1) of the Second-Hand Goods, Act 2009 (Act No.6 of 2009).
Furthermore, three persons were arrested for possession of stolen property while one was held for possession of drugs. A total of nine suspected undocumented persons were taken in for processing by Immigration Officials.
Police would like to remind all Second-Hand Goods dealers that Chapter 2 (1) of the Act stipulates that every person, who carries out business as a dealer must be registered. Moreover, a dealer must keep a register in the prescribed form and record in the register the prescribed particulars regarding every acquisition or disposal of second-hand goods according to chapter 4 (21)(1).
