Behind the Boks - win or lose!

Saturday (15 July) was not a good day for Springbok supporters. The All Blacks well and truly beat them in Auckland, but it's not all doom and gloom for the World Cup champions. They gallantly fought back from a dismal start, clawing their way into the game and at least letting the All Blacks work for the victory. And as many a wise man has said in the past: You learn more from a true defeat than off a small victory. Bok supporters know their team will rally now and work on the weak points to make sure they are in top form for the coming World Cup. And the Springboks can rest assured that their true supporters will be there, all the way cheering them on - dedicated supporters like Loulene Potgieter, Carmen Piater, Danielle Botha and Luzanne Herbst.

Mew Mosque going up in Guckoo Avenue

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The construction of a new mosque and some 30 housing units on the open piece of land between Cuckoo Avenue and Mayet Drive in Ward 17 Rustenburg is set to begin any day soon a well-known city planner told Rustenburg Herald and Bonus on Tuesday last week.

The development will include a Mosque to accommodate approximately 275 worshippers, a multi-terraced parking area as well as 31 housing units to accommodate permanent office bearers of the mosque.

Initial fears by a group of residents and property owners in the area, predominantly residents of Ward 17 that the mosque could pose a threat in terms of noise pollution and that a so-called "alleged" Public Participation process may have been flawed in terms of "proper" notice and a fair period allowed for objections seem to have been unfounded and the relevant documentation was submitted on request. Concerned residents could however, have been caught unawares of a public participation meeting preceding an application for the rezoning of the land which was advertised in Beeld, Citizen and the Provincial Gazette earlier last year.

"The Mosque and its services will cause no more noise pollution than any other church or congregation of which there are already two in the area, in fact in the very same Cuckoo Avenue", Rustenburg Herald was told. Concerned residents will be relieved nonetheless to hear that an undertaking that no "public address speaker system" or loud public practices which could cause a disturbance to residents in the area were in fact essential prerequisites to the rezoning of the land application.

Initial ground works have already begun and construction may commence at any time now, the city planner said.

One more caught for horn theft

Police target hijackers

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Seven men connected to hijackings in the Bojanala District were arrested last week.

Different units of the Rustenburg police were involved in tactical operations, bagging these thugs. For more details on these arrests, see this week's Rustenburg Herald.

Improving the learning environment

Over the past decade, Sibanye-Stillwater has collectively invested more than R2 billion into quality education. This investment has been distributed across multiple areas, including tertiary study bursaries, learnerships within our operations, graduate internship programs, as well as portable skills and cadetship programs aimed at enhancing the skillset of our surrounding community. Additionally, we have invested in adult education and training. A significant portion of our investment has been directed towards school infrastructure, involving renovations and construction at 16 schools. Alongside this, we have offered developmental support in schools and have implemented Human Resource Development programs. These aforementioned initiatives constitute the majority of our commitment to improving access to quality education, and their specifics will be elaborated in the following sections of this document.

Bursaries

Since 2016, Sibanye-Stillwater has provided approximately R139 million in financial support which enabled a total of 2,585 learners in South Africa to pursue careers in various fields of study such as mining, engineering, finance and human resources.

Cadetship programme

The cadetship programme is designed to provide skills development for unemployed youth in communities surrounding Sibanye-Stillwater's operations. They are provided with basic skills required to be eligible for employment at entry-level job categories of mining and metallurgy. Over R31 million has been spent towards 2,806

Sibanye-Stillwater - creating superior shared value

Internship programme

The Intern Graduate Development programme provides work-related exposure and professional development for students who are completing or have completed their university studies in the Group's core business areas of mining, engineering and mine-specific technical service disciplines such as metallurgy, chemical engineering and geology. To date, 1,763 learners in South Africa have participated with over R466 million being spent in the internship programme since 2016.

Sibanye-Stillwater's learnership programme responds to the need for skills development in the mining sector and the wider South African economy. In addition to providing skills development training, the programme aims to increase the employability of young people by providing them with relevant work experience. In response to this, Sibanye-Stillwater has provided 7,969 learners with opportunities within mining and engineering and has spent R1.2 billion towards the programme.

Portable skills

The Group established the portable skills programme to provide retiring or incapacitated employees with essential skills to earn a livelihood outside employment at the mine. The initiative, focusing on vocational skills such as plumbing, carpentry, sewing, welding and additional entrepreneurship and computer skills, has since been extended to members of our labour-sending communities. Since 2016, a total of 4,056 beneficiaries have participated in the programme with an investment of over R75 million.

Adult Education and Training (AET)

Sibanye-Stillwater offers an AET programme for employees and other residents of the communities around its operations. The programme is designed to equip participants with basic competencies, including reading, writing, and effective communication. To date, 9,192 have participated in the programme since 2016. A total of R571 million has been spent towards AET programmes.

This hearty Mexican street corn soup with avo is simple to make and absolutely brimming with flavour. This comforting soup is filled with charred corn, smoky chipotle chilli and paprika, a dash of lemon and a splash of garlic flavoured avocado oil. Finish it off with crumbled feta, fresh coriander, avocado and a drizzle of lemon flavoured oil for that little extra kick.

CORN SOUP

4 sweetcorn on the cob 2 Tbsp (30 ml) Lemon Flavoured Avocado Oil

2 Tbsp (30 ml) Garlic Flavoured Avocado Oil

1 medium-sized onion, finely chopped 1 tsp (5 ml) smoked paprika 1 tsp (5 ml) chipotle chilli spice ½ tsp (2,5 ml) ground cumin 1 litre chicken/vegetable stock 1 lime, juiced 1/2 C (125 ml) cream

salt and pepper to taste

TO SERVE

60 g/4 Tbsp crumbled feta 4 Tbsp (60 ml) reserved charred corn kernels

10 g (small handful) fresh coriander, washed & picked

1 ripe avocado, peeled, pitted and cut into small cubes

1 jalapeño pepper, sliced into rounds (optional)

sprinkle of chipotle chilli spice drizzle of Lemon Flavoured Avocado

1 lime, cut into wedges

METHOD

Brush the sweetcorn cobs with Lemon Flavoured Avocado Oil. Heat a frying pan to hot and chargrill the corn on all sides until well caramelised.

Remove from the pan and set aside to cool.

Heat a deep-sided pot and add the Garlic Flavoured Avocado Oil. Add the onions and gently sauté until soft and translucent. Add the paprika, chipotle spice and cumin and fry, while stirring, for a minute until fragrant. Pour the stock into the pot and bring to a boil. Meanwhile, using a sharp knife, cut the corn kernels off the cobs and set aside. Add the cobs to the stock and boil for 10 minutes – this will intensify the flavour of the soup. Remove the cobs and discard.

Reserve about 4 tablespoons of corn kernels for garnish, and add the rest to the pot. Reduce the heat and simmer for 10 minutes. Remove from the heat and add in the lime juice.

Using either a stick or jug blender, blend the soup to the preferred texture and consistency. Add the cream and stir to combine. Taste and adjust the seasoning with salt and pepper. Divide the soup into 4 serving bowls.

Top with the feta, charred corn kernels, picked coriander, cubed avocado, jalapeños (if using), and a light sprinkle of chipotle spice. Finally, garnish with a drizzle of Lemon Flavoured Avocado Oil and serve with lime wedges on the AARTO perhaps constitutional, but still impractical with "huge potential for corruption"

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - OUTA believes that government will struggle to implement AARTO due to the red tape and its potential for corruption and is concerned that AARTO has already failed to improve road safety.

AARTO legislation is constitutionally valid and thus legal, dismissing OUTA's legal challenge to the law.

Concourt to confirm the Pretoria High Court's judgment measures to improve road safety and reduce fatalities of November 2022 that the AARTO legislation was unconstitutional and invalid. The disputed legislation is the Administrative Adjudication of Road Traffic Offences Act of 1998 (AARTO) and the AARTO Amendment Act of 2019, which brought certain aspects of the AARTO Act into effect.

The Concourt judgment was written by Chief Justice Raymond Zondo and was unanimous.

The Concourt disagreed with OUTA's position that the legislation unlawfully intrudes upon the exclusive executive and legislative competence of the local and preventing local and provincial governments from regulating their own affairs. The Concourt did not make a costs order, which means that the parties will pay their own legal costs.

OUTA has been vocal for many years about AARTO, Action for Road Safety.

This after the Constitutional Court ruled that the which we believe will not effectively address the epidemic of road traffic fatalities and injuries.

"We are disappointed with the Concourt's decision OUTA had brought an application calling on the but abide by the apex court's ruling. OUTA believes that are urgently needed. However, we don't believe that the AARTO Act will achieve this, it's just not practically possible. South Africa needs effective processes enabled by fair adjudication that comply with the Constitution," says Advocate Stefanie Fick, OUTA Executive Director. OUTA is of the opinion that the AARTO legislation results in troublesome and complex issues for most motorists and motor vehicle owners, and is concerned that this legislation will not achieve the principal purpose of enhancing road safety.

OUTA believes that improving road safety is crucial provincial governments envisaged in the Constitution, and that any legislation or initiatives enhancing safety must be supported. OUTA however does not believe that AARTO will be the silver bullet guaranteeing the implementation of the National Road Safety Strategy and the achievement of the targets of the UN Decade of

'DA will not let ANC bulldoze BELA Bill through Parliament'

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - The DA has written to the chair of the parliamentary portfolio committee on basic education, Bongiwe Mbinqo-Gigaba, to request that correct Parliamentary processes be followed with the Basic Education Laws Amendment (BELA) Bill.

Shadow Minister of Basic Education.

"The clause-by-clause deliberations have already been scheduled for 15 - 18 August 2023, during the Parliamentary recess period that is meant for Constituency work, yet the committee has not received all public participation reports, both oral and written; a full presentation on the qualitative and quantitative outcomes clause-by-clause; the Department of Basic Education's comments on the public participation outcomes and on how the entire Bill will be funded; and a report from Parliamentary Legal Services indicating any constitutional implications," Nodada said in a statement.

"We cannot allow this draconian Bill to simply be

This is according to Baxolile 'Bax' Nodada, the DA bulldozed through Parliament - due process must be followed. The public's input cannot be a mere tick-box exercise. All comments received must be evaluated and considered," he continued.

> Nodada stated that the DA's concerns with the Bill includes the disempowerment of schools and school governing bodies (SGBs) to determine their own admission and language policies, the lack of engagement with the homeschooling sector, and the failure to include online and blended learning.

"Our concerns seemed to be mirrored by the public participation process in the provinces. It is clear that the BELA Bill in its current form will only further cripple the provision of quality basic education in this country,' Nodada concluded.

ONUS - RUSTENBURG - Jy kan nie oor avontuur skryf as jy nie van avontuur wéét nie.

En Riaan Manser is 'n ou wat avontuur ken - in 2006 is hy aangewys as 'Out there adventurer of the year' nadat hy reg rondom Afrika gery het. Sowat 34 5000 kilometer - per fiets.

Vir sommige mense sou dit genoeg gewees het; Nie vir Riaan nie. In 2009 het hy rondom Madagaskar geseil - die wêreld se vierde grootste eiland - man alleen en sonder hulp, net hy in 'n kaiak.

Dit het hom11 maande geneem om die 5000 kilometer-vaart te voltooi en in dié 11 maande het hy ervarings gehad wat meeste mense net oor kan droom; Of nagmerries oor kan hê.

Riaan moes uiterste toestande verduur: Dondererende golwe, siklone en 'n son wat sonde genade op hom neergeskroei het. Boonop was Madagaskar op daardie stadium 'n politieke kookpot en het hy nie minder nie as vyf maal in die tronk beland; Een keer omdat hy as huursoldaat verdink is.

Dit was egter maar net 'n paar van sy noue ontkomings!

Hy het feitlik - letterlik en figuurlik - met boggelrugwalvisse skouers geskuur wanneer hulle nuuskierig naby sy kajak kom gesig wys het. Daar was die keer toe 'n haai van homself 'n padvark gemaak het en Riaan se boot 'n stamp kom gee het en daar was onvergeetlike oomblikke met massiewe leerskilpaaie wat met hul reuselywe langs hom kom swem het.

Oor dié avontuur skryf Riaan, saam met Murray Williams en Chantal Tarling in 'My eerste wilde eiland-avontuur'. Al is die boek met sy heerlike, kleurvolle illustrasies - gedoen deur die kunstenaar Martinus van Tee - geklaasifiseer as kinderniefiksie, is dit 'n storie propvol interessante inligting en prettige feite wat ook ouer lesers sal vermaak en bekoor.

'My eerste wilde eiland-avontuur' word deur Penguin Books South Africa uitgegee en is ook in Engels beskikbaar as 'My First Wild Island Adventure'

Tour de France continues without local Louis

Johannes Meintjes - father of Rustenburg cycling hero - Louis Meintjes who was forced to abandon the tour after a serious accident during Stage 14 on Saturday.

Memorial Service and Memorial Run for Lizzy

A Memorial Run for Lizzy will be held this Saturday.

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - A Memorial Run for the late Elizabeth Lizzy Dlhiwayo's passion for fitness and her love for the club will be held by Run Walk for Life on Saturday 22 July at 06:00.

This run will serve as a powerful reminder of Lizzy's spirit and the positive impact she had on their lives. They encourage you to join them as they remember her in an active and uplifting manner.

BONUS - RUSTENBURG - Monday of this week was the second and well-deserved rest day after all the drama over the past weekend with Rustenburg cycling hero Louis Meintjes taking a serious tumble which saw him injuring his collarbone. In is indeed sad news that Louis was forced to abandon the Tour on Stage 14.

The cyclist have now completed 15 days of cycling and covered more than 2 441.5 km.

There were some mass crashes on Stage 13 (30 riders) and Stage 14 (20 riders) where several riders had to withdraw due to the serious nature of their injuries. Louis Meintjes sustained a lateral clavicular fracture of his left shoulder. "He was operated on Sunday evening and we are optimistic about the possibility of a fast recovery", his father, Johannes Meintjes, told Bonus and Rustenburg Herald on Monday morning. To date 19 cyclists had to withdraw due to injury, illness or exhaustion.

The race however continues for the remainder of the cyclists. The racing intensified during the last 3 days of racing, before the second rest day. The real racing is for the General Classification (GC) honors. The two main antagonists are 10 seconds from each other. Their attempts to outfox each other is spectacular and very entertaining for the TV viewers, Johannes pointed out.

The last week of racing starts with a very hilly Individual Time Trail (ITT) over a distance of 22,4 km with the last 2,8 km an incline of 8,5%. This time trail will change the GC standings. Stage 17 over a distance of 165 km will have 5 399 meters of vertical climbing. This is the stage with the highest vertical gain and will be one of the most difficult stages of this year's TdF. This stage will end in a mountain top finish above the snow line. Stage 18 & 19 are flat stages for the sprinters. Stage 20 has another mountain top finish and stage 21 is a flat stage that ends in Paris and which traditionally is a pure ceremonial ride wherein only sprinters are vying for top honours with the General Classification remaining unchanged.

Louis Meintjes out of Tour de France

Tragic news for Rustenburg cycling and particularly Tour de France aficionados is that Rustenburg hero - Louis Meintjes - has crashed out of the 2023 Tour de France on Saturday during stage 14 of the tour with barely one week left. This was a great disappointment as Louis was doing particularly well and found himself in 14th position in the General Classification when he fell during a bunch crash which saw literally dozens of fellow cyclists taking a tumble. At least six riders were forced to abandon the TDF after the crash. The Tour de France finishes in Paris on Sunday.
