Rotary club projects for Mandela Month

The Rotary Club's Mandela Day projects kept them busy during July.

Vodacom joined forces with the club to create a sustainable vegetable garden for the Catholic Church in Jouberton. This garden will feed the surrounding community. Those who purchase fresh produce will be granted access to the internet container which was also sponsored by the club. An irrigation system, gardening tools and seeds were sponsored by Vodacom. Seen are Allison de Lange, club president, Lwandile Booi, executive head for Vodacom Gauteng Region and (front) Moses Hartzenburg, county manager at Vodacom and Cheryl Katz, Rotary Club of Klerksdorp.

Vegetables were delivered to the Klerksdorp Community Centre for their weekly soup kitchen. Seen here are Rotarians Leon Venter (middle), Henri de Backer and Michelle van Niekerk from the centre. Every week, over 500 residents around Klerksdorp are treated to soup and bread, thanks to the generous donations from the community. If you want to get involved or contribute in any way, please contact the Rotary Club of Klerksdorp on 073 680 8808.

The club did a clean-up and revamp of Klerksdorp SAPS in the CBD. The building was painted, succulents were planted in multi-coloured tyres and the outside of the building received a facelift.

SAPS arrest city hall troublemakers

Klerksdorp Midweek, Kanana - Eight Kanana gang members who wreaked havoc at the Matlosana Municipality when they assaulted and intimidated officials in the mayoral boardroom, were arrested.

Brig Sabatha Mokgwabone said a group of 15 men stormed into the boardroom on July 26 where they found the Mayor, Municipal Manager, Human Resources Manager and other officials in a meeting. They identified themselves as members of the 1818 gang and demanded to be employed.

"Upon being told that there are no vacancies, they apparently insulted the Human Resources Manager and hurled chairs at municipal officials leading to bodily injuries and damages to property," he said.

A crime intelligence operation led by the Anti-Gang Unit (AGU) was conducted and eight suspects handed themselves to the police.

The accused; David Mbaloane (35), John Mokhele (38), Lehlohonolo Kgiba, Thabang Mpotle (36), Katiso Mokgatsi (37), Thabo Mafohla (39), Jabulane Sebeko (39) and Ephraim Mpedi (37) appeared in court to apply for bail.

They were charged with public violence, trespassing, malicious damage to property and intimidation. Investigation into the matter including tracing of other suspects, is underway.

The Provincial Police Commissioner, Lt Genl Sello Kweni urged the community to report acts of this nature to the police for necessary steps to be taken as gangs cannot be allowed to disrespect the rule of law and in the process terrorise law abiding citizens.

WAT KLOP BY AARDKLOP?

Klerksdorp Midweek, Potchefstroom - Aardklop vind in die eerste week van Oktober plaas en die kaartjies verkoop vlot.

'n Produksie wat baie aandag trek is Mimi sing Mimi met Amira Willighagen en Charl du Plessis op die verhoog.

Amira het bekendheid verwerf toe sy Holland's Got Talent in 2013 op negejarige ouderdom gewen het. Sedertdien het sy saam met vooraanstaande kunstenaars gewerk en het sy selfs saam met die wêreldbekende André Rieu en sy orkes opgetree. Sy het in 2018 na Suid-Afrika verhuis en het pas met volle akademiese kleure gematrikuleer.

Amira het die bynaam Mimi, en haar bewondering van die Kammersängerin Mimi Coertse het gelei tot hierdie huldeblykkonsert: Mimi sing Mimi. Amira se liefde vir die Afrikaanse taal word ten toon gestel in 'n keur van die bekendste ou Afrikaanse volksliedjies wat deur Mimi Coertse bekend gemaak is, onder meer "O, Boereplaas", "Die berggans het 'n veer laat val" en "Heimwee".

Die program sal ook 'n keur van lieder en bekende arias uit operas en operettes insluit. Amira tree op saam met die pianis en Steinway-kunstenaar Charl du Plessis, wat die musikale regisseur vir hierdie duo-uitvoering is.

Die konsert is in die Konservatorium te sien op 4 en 5 Oktober. Die kaartjies kos R190 elk en R150 vir pensioenarisse. Bespreek by Ticketpro.

Rheumatic Fever and Rheumatic Heart Disease What to Know?

August 1-7 is Rheumatic Fever and Rheumatic Heart Disease Awareness Week. These are serious illnesses that can damage your heart, but they're preventable.

Rheumatic fever is caused by a group-A-streptococcus infection, like strep throat. The symptoms can include fever, joint pain, skin rash, and inflammation of the heart. If left untreated, it can lead to rheumatic heart disease, which damages the heart valves.

The good news is that rheumatic fever is preventable. If you or your child has strep throat, it's important to take your medication as prescribed by your doctor. This will help to prevent the development of rheumatic fever.

Here are a few other things you can do to help prevent rheumatic fever:

- Get your children vaccinated against strep throat.
- Wash your hands often.
- Avoid close contact with people who are sick.

If you or your child has any of the symptoms of rheumatic fever, it's important to see a doctor right away. Early diagnosis and treatment can help to prevent serious complications.

So, if you're feeling under the weather, don't just assume it's strep throat. See your doctor to rule out rheumatic fever. And if you have any questions about either condition, please talk to your doctor.

Here are some additional information about rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease:

- Rheumatic fever is most common in children and young adults.
- The risk of developing rheumatic fever is highest after a first episode of strep throat.
- There is no cure for rheumatic fever, but it can be treated.
- Rheumatic heart disease can be a lifelong condition, but it can be managed with medication and lifestyle changes.

Making life better

Only murders in the building

A series so good it should be seen by everybody. That is Only Murders in the Building. Take note M-Net!

The third series can be seen on Disney+ from Friday August 8.

If you regularly watch award shows, then you would have noticed the series as previous series' have received multiple nominations and awards.

In the third series, Meryl

Streep joins the cast. The series is set in the Arconia, an upscale building in NY that houses amateur sleuths and true-crime podcast hosts Charles (Steve Martin), Mabel (Selena Gomez), and Oliver (Martin Short).

In the first season, after a suspicious death in their building, the three neighbours start their own podcast about their investigation. In the second season, the trio themselves become suspects in the bloody murder of another building resident.

The third season will introduce viewers to a whole new collection of characters centered on the theatre. Since its debut, the series has somewhat quietly become one of the most star-filled shows in the streaming landscape. In addition to Martin (who says this series might be his swan song), Short, and Gomez, cast members include Nathan Lane as an antagonistic neighbour living with his scheming son (James Caverly), Jane Lynch as Charles's wisecracking stand-in, Da'Vine Joy Randolph as a detective often at odds with the central trio, and Jackie Hoffman as another scene-stealing Arconia resident.

All of them are likely to return in some form, although nothing official has been announced. Season two additions such as Michael Rapaport, Cara Delevingne, Amy Schumer, and Oscar winner Shirley MacLaine are also up for reprisals, should the story call for them.

Amy Ryan's musically maniacal Jan and Jayne Houdyshell's ill-fated Bunny have remained in the cast, regardless of their fates as murderer and murdered, respectively, which means Paul Rudd's newly deceased Broadway actor Ben will return for season three flashbacks.

The third series is getting a time jump. The season two finale ended with Poppy (Adina Verson), the beleaguered personal assistant of Tina Fey's true crime podcast host, Cinda Canning, as the killer of Bunny Folger. The third series leans into the theatrical side of New York City and also into Oliver and his world. Basically - a little more backstage intrigue with your requisite backstabbing.

LET'S COOK

Lemon bars

Ingredients

Shortbread Crust

- ~ 2 cups all purpose flour spooned and leveled
- ~ ½ cup powdered sugar (can also use granulated sugar)
- ~ 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ~ ½ teaspoon salt
- ~ 1 cup unsalted butter melted (2 sticks)
- ~ 1 ½ teaspoons vanilla extract

Lemon Bar Filling

- ~ 1 ¾ cups granulated sugar
- ~ 5 large eggs
- ~ ¼ cup all purpose flour spooned and leveled
- ~ ¾ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
- ~ ¼ cup half and half heavy cream or whole milk
- ~ 2 teaspoons lemon zest

Garnish

- ~ ¼ cup powdered sugar to sift on top of cooled bars just before serving, optional

Instructions

- ~ Preheat oven to 160°C.
- ~ Lightly spray a 30 x 20 inch glass baking dish with cooking spray and line with parchment paper. Be sure to leave enough of an overhang for easy removal of the lemon bars. Set aside.
- ~ In a large mixing bowl, combine all purpose flour, powdered sugar, cornstarch and salt.
- ~ Add melted butter and vanilla extract and stir just until combined.
- ~ Press the crust mixture evenly on the bottom of the prepared baking dish.
- ~ Bake for 18 to 22 minutes or until the edges are starting to turn a very light golden brown.
- ~ While the crust is baking, prepare the lemon curd filling. In a large bowl, whisk eggs and granulated sugar together. Add the flour and whisk until no lumps remain.
- ~ Whisk in the half and half, lemon juice, and lemon zest.
- ~ Carefully pour the filling over the hot crust - through a fine mesh sieve if you have one - and return to the oven to bake for an additional 20 to 24 minutes or until the center is set. (Test by tapping the edge of the baking dish to see if the center jiggles at all.)
- ~ Let the bars cool completely at room temperature and then transfer to the refrigerator for another 2 to 3 hours minimum. I prefer to let them chill overnight.
- ~ When ready to enjoy, lift the bars out of the baking dish using the parchment overhang.
- ~ Cut into bars and dust with powdered sugar. Enjoy chilled!
- ~ Store leftovers bars in an airtight container in the refrigerator.

Six hacks to streamline your kitchen counters

Klerksdorp Midweek, Klerksdorp - A cluttered kitchen can be a source of frustration for the most organised person, but when it comes to the kitchen the counters tend to bear the brunt of the mess. "There is no place to prep, something is always in your way, and when you think you have it under control you soon learn that you don't," laughs Bronwyn Ragavan, brand manager for Chemico. "A cluttered kitchen will only cause unnecessary stress."

Fortunately, with some simple strategies and a commitment to maintaining order, you can transform your kitchen counters into a tidy and inviting space. The first step is to remove everything on your counters and wipe it down, giving it a thorough cleaning. Chemico Liqui Clean has been trusted by consumers for over 80 years, and over the years has adapted its formulation to handle any grime and germs, and together with its 3X Extreme Clean with Acti Beads, can ensure that all kitchen countertops and other surfaces are spotless and hygienic.

Once you have completed this, now is the time to start organising your counters:

Consider the appliances and items you use daily and those you can do without. Identify items that are better suited for storage in cabinets or drawers rather than cluttering the countertops.

Create designated zones on your kitchen counters to help maintain order. Divide the space into functional areas, such as food preparation, cooking, and beverage stations. Place specific items to each zone and make a conscious effort to return them to their spot after use.

Sort and organise the items on your counters into three categories – keep, store, and discard. Keep only the essentials that you use frequently, such as your coffee maker, toaster, and cutting board. Items that are used occasionally can be stored in cabinets or other storage spaces.

Invest in practical storage solutions such as drawer dividers, kitchen organisers, and hanging racks to store utensils, cutting boards, and pots and pans. Clear, airtight containers are great for storing dry goods, while baskets or bins can hold produce and other frequently used items.

Maximise your kitchen's wall space by installing shelves or hooks on the walls, keeping frequently used items within easy reach. Hang pots, pans, and cooking utensils to free up valuable counter space.

A clutter-free sink area is essential for an efficient kitchen. Make sure to clean and dry dishes promptly after use and store them away.

"Once you have order, keep it that way. Make it a habit to do a quick clean-up every day, returning items to their designated spots and keeping countertops free from unnecessary items," explains Ragavan. "A clutter-free kitchen with streamlined countertops not only enhances it visually but also improves efficiency and productivity."

By assessing your needs, organising items into clear zones, and using smart storage solutions, you can achieve a tidy and functional kitchen. Embrace the art of decluttering and make it a part of your daily routine to maintain a beautiful and inviting kitchen.
